2. We depend on a limited number of key customers for a majority of our revenues, which exposes us to a high risk of customer concentration. Particularly, we depend significantly on customers in the FMCG industries and are highly dependent on the performance of this industry. A decrease in the revenues we derive from them could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

We depend on a limited number of customers for a majority of our revenues, which exposes us to a risks of customer concentration. Fluctuations in the performance of the industries in which our customers operate may result in a loss of customers, a decrease in the volume of work we undertake or the price at which we offer our services. There is no guarantee that we will retain the business of our existing customers or maintain the current level of business with each of these customers. A major portion of our business comes from customers in the FMCG industry. Any slowdown, regulatory changes, supply chain disruptions, or other adverse developments in this industry may reduce the demand for our services. However, there have been no such past instances where company has faced loss due to loss of any such customer.

The table below sets out our revenue from our Top 3 customers, Top 5 customers, Top 10 customers on the basis of revenue contribution (Consolidated basis), for the Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, including as a percentage of revenue from operations, for the respective periods.

While we typically have long term relationships with our clients, we have not entered into long term agreements with our clients and the success of our business is accordingly significantly dependent on us maintaining good relationships with our clients and suppliers. If we fail to retain these customers on terms that are commercially reasonable or if there is any significant reduction in the volume of business with such customers, it could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition. These customers could cease doing business with us or reduce the volume of business they do with us for a number of reasons, including adverse general economic conditions, a decline in business/sales of such customers, unfavorable financial position of such customers, an adverse change in any of such customers' supply chain strategies, a reduction in their outsourcing of logistics operations or if such customers decide to choose our competitors over us.

3. Our reliance on particular industries for a significant portion of our sales could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial conditions.

We are primarily engaged in the temperature-controlled logistics services, providing transportation of perishable goods across India through refrigerated trucks (reefers) in various industries like: (a) Logistics and Supply Chain (b) FMCG. Consequently, our revenues are dependent on the volume of goods moved for end-user industries. The table set forth below provides industry segment split of our revenue from operations for the Fiscal 2026, Fiscal 2025 and Fiscal 2024:

(Rs. in lakhs)

Particulars	Fiscal 2026		Fiscal 2025		Fiscal 2024

[#]It includes profit from the trading in futures and options and intraday trading of shares. This activity was added in Main Objects of the Company pursuant to the amendment made on November 20, 2023 in Memorandum of Association. However, the said activity was discontinued pursuant to the amendment of the Memorandum of Association on August 05, 2024, whereby the said object was deleted. However, the income earned prior to discontinuation continues to be reflected under the category 'Others' in Financial Year 2024-25 (from April 2024 till August 2024).

Factors affecting any of these industries in general, or any of our customers in particular, could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Such factors include, but are not limited to, the following:

a) our dependence on limited number of customers for a significant portion of our revenues;
b) economic conditions of the markets in which our customers operate;
c) regulatory issues faced by these industries in India and internationally;
d) downturns or industry cycles that impact demand; and
e) Our inability to successfully identify customer requirements and preferences and gain customer acceptance for our services.

To date, there have been no instances where the Company has incurred any losses as a result of operating its business under the aforementioned factors. However, if any such situation arises in the future, it may lead to financial losses for the Company.

4. Our business operations are significantly concentrated in certain geographical regions and we generate major portion of turnover from these regions or nearby regions only. Any adverse developments affecting our operations in these regions could have an adverse impact on our revenue and results of operations.

Our operations are primarily concentrated in the states of Delhi, Haryana, Maharashtra, and Uttar Pradesh. A substantial portion of our revenue, assets, and customer base is derived from these regions. The Geographical distribution of our revenue from these four states are set out below:

(Rs. in lakhs)

Particulars	For the financial year ended
	March 31, 2026		March 31, 2025		March 31, 2024

Any materially adverse social, political or economic development, civil disruptions, or changes in the policies of the state/central government or state or local governments, may require a modification of our business strategy, or require us to incur significant suspend our services. Though no such events occurred in past, the occurrence of or our inability to effectively respond to, any such events or effectively manage the competition in the region, could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition, cash flows and future business prospects. We also provide services in the state of West Bengal, Telangana, Karnataka, Rajasthan, Tamil- Nadu, Madhya-Pradesh etc. Our inability to expand into other areas may adversely affect our business prospects, financial conditions and results of operations.

We may not be able to effectively assess the level of promotional marketing required in a particular state, and the recognition of our services in such states may not be in the manner or to the extent anticipated by us. Our expansion into existing & new geographies may also be challenging on account of our lack of familiarity with the social, political, economic and cultural conditions of these new regions, language barriers, difficulties in staffing and managing such operations and reputation in such regions. We may also encounter other additional anticipated risks and significant competition in such markets.

Further, as we enter into new markets and geographical areas, we are likely to compete with not only national players, but also the local players, who might have an established local presence, and are more familiar with local business practices and have stronger relationships with local distributors, dealers, relevant government authorities, suppliers or are in a stronger financial position than us, all of which may give them a competitive advantage over us. Our inability to expand into other areas may adversely affect our business prospects, financial conditions and results of operations. While our management believes that the Company has requisite expertise and vision to grow and mark its presence in other markets going forward, investors should consider our business and prospects in light of the risks, losses and challenges that we face and should not rely on our results of operations for any prior periods as an indication of our future performance.

In the event of termination/non-renewal of said agreements, we may be required to vacate the said premises which may cause disruption in our inventory management, corporate affairs and business and impede our effective operations which could temporarily impact on our business operations until we get suitable alternative premises.

There can be no assurance that we will, in the future, be able to renew the agreements for the existing locations on same or similar terms, or will be able to find alternate locations for the offices on similar terms favourable to us, or at all. We may also fail to negotiate the renewal of our rent agreements for our premises, either on commercially acceptable terms or at all, which could result in increased rental rates for subsequent renewals or searching of new premises, affecting our financial condition and operations. In the event that the rent agreement is terminated or they are not renewed on commercially acceptable terms, we may suffer a disruption in our factory operations which could affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. However, there have been no past instances where Company's operations have been hampered due to non-renewal of agreements for the leased premises.

For details on the duration of existing rent/lease agreements of our premises, please refer to the chapter titled "Our Business" beginning on page 124.

M/s Singhal Garg & Associates, Chartered Accountants, resigned from the office of the Statutory Auditors of our Company with effect from April 20, 2025, resulting in a casual vacancy. Consequently, M/s Maroti & Associates, Chartered Accountants, were appointed as the Statutory Auditors of the Company with effect from May 1, 2025, to fill the said casual vacancy, in accordance with the Companies Act. The audited financial statements and the statutory auditor's report for the financial year ended March 31, 2025, have been issued by M/s Maroti & Associates, who are the current Statutory Auditors of the Company.

9. We have incurred substantial indebtedness which exposes us to various risks which may have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Our ability to borrow and the terms of our borrowings will depend on our financial condition, the stability of our cash flows, general market conditions, economic and political conditions in the markets where we operate and our capacity to service debt. As on March 31, 2026 our total outstanding indebtedness was ₹ 2,900.23 lakhs on Restated Consolidated basis. Details of the Debt-to-equity ratio of the Company as at March 31, 2026 on Restated Consolidated basis is as follows:

Based on Restated Consolidated Financial Information

Particulars	As at March 31, 2026	As at March 31, 2025	As at March 31, 2024
Total debt (A) (₹ in Lakhs)	3921.36	2,900.23	3103.19
Total Shareholders' funds (B) (₹ in Lakhs)	4,230.51	2,584.81	1,482.59
Debt to equity ratio (C = A/B)	0.93	1.12	2.09

Our significant indebtedness results in substantial amount of debt service obligations which could lead to:

1. increasing our vulnerability to general adverse economic, industry and competitive conditions;
2. limiting our flexibility in planning for, or reacting to, changes in our business and the industry;
3. affecting our credit rating;
4. limiting our ability to borrow more money both now and in the future; and
5. increasing our interest expenditure and adversely affecting our profitability.

If the loans are recalled on short notice, we may be required to arrange funds to meet the necessary obligations. The occurrence of any of these events may have an adverse effect on our cash flows and financial condition. However, there have been no such instances in the past where the Company's loans were recalled on short notice or where it faced any related financial difficulties.

For further details regarding our indebtedness, see the chapter titled "Statement of Financial Indebtedness" beginning on page 210.

Such related-party transactions in the future may potentially involve conflicts of interest which may be detrimental to the interest of our Company and we cannot assure you that such transactions, individually or in the aggregate, will always be in the best interests of our minority shareholders and will not have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

Further, our Promoter and Directors are interested in our Company, in addition to regular remuneration or benefits and reimbursement of expenses, to the extent of their shareholding in our Company or their relatives, dividend entitlement, properties given by them on lease/rental basis or loans advanced by them to the Company, and benefits deriving from the directorship in our Company. There can be no assurance that our Promoter will exercise his rights as shareholder to the benefit and best interest of our Company. Our Promoter will continue to exercise significant control over our Company, including being able to control the composition of our Board of Directors and determine decisions requiring simple or special majority voting of shareholders, and our other minority shareholders may be unable to affect the outcome of such voting.

11. Our Company has not complied with certain statutory provisions of the Companies Act, 2013. Such non-compliance may attract penalties against our Company which could impact the financial position of us to that extent.

Our Company has not complied with certain statutory provisions under the Companies Act 2013 which inter-alia includes non- filling of form CHG-1 for creation of charge on certain vehicle loans taken in the past, which is non-compliance of section 77 of the Companies Act, 2013 read with rules made thereunder and attracts penalty under section 86 and/or other relevant provision(s) of Companies Act, 2013, as may be applicable.

As on the date of this Red Herring Prospectus, no show cause notice has been received by our Company and no penalty or fine has been imposed by any regulatory authority in this regard. However, there can be no assurance that similar instances of non-compliance will not occur in the future, or that our Company will not face delays in fulfilling its reporting requirements. Further, there can be no assurance that no penalty or fine will be imposed on us for past or future non-compliances. Any such penalties, fines, or adverse regulatory actions may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, and financial condition.

We have obtained a legal opinion from CS Ashish Bisht, Practicing Company Secretary, vide letter dated September 04, 2025, in respect of the aforesaid matter. Additionally, we have appointed a full-time Company Secretary to strengthen our compliance framework and minimize the risk of such non-compliances in the future.

12. Our inability to pass on any increase in operating expenses, particularly fuel costs and expenses relating to temperature-controlled operations, to our customers may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Fuel costs, toll charges, hire charges and refrigeration-related expenses represent some of our major operating costs. Any increase in such costs, or our inability to pass them on to customers, could adversely affect our results of operations. The cost of fuel has fluctuated significantly in recent times due to factors beyond our control, including international crude oil prices, demand and supply conditions, geopolitical developments, import costs, government policies and the availability of alternative fuels. In addition, our business requires maintaining goods at specified temperatures throughout transit, which results in additional operating costs such as refrigeration unit fuel consumption, servicing and maintenance of reefer equipment, and continuous power usage.

Although most of our customer contracts contain price variation/diesel variation clauses under which freight rates are adjusted to reflect fluctuations in fuel prices beyond a specified level, the entire impact of such fluctuations is not always recoverable and is partly borne by our Company. Further, there can be no assurance that we will be able to continue passing on future increases in fuel or refrigeration-related costs to our customers, either wholly or in part. Inability to do so could adversely impact our profitability, business operations, financial condition and results of operations.

However, till date Company has not experienced any losses in the past due to any increase in operating expenses, particularly fuel costs and expenses relating to temperature-controlled operations. Based on extensive industry experience and understanding of operational cost dynamics, particularly those related to fuel and temperature-controlled logistics, the Company generally incorporates cost variation clauses in its customer agreements. These clauses allow for proportional adjustments in billing rates in case of any increase or decrease in fuel or refrigeration-related costs.

In cases where such variation provisions are not covered under the agreement, the Company undertakes a review and re-evaluation of commercials at the operational P&L level, and subsequently renegotiates the contract terms with the concerned customers to recover or adjust the impact of the cost change.

13. We are subject to various risks associated with transportation and we may face claims relating to loss or damage to goods, personal injury claims or other operating risks that are not adequately insured.

Our business is subject to risks inherent in refrigerated logistics transportation, including potential liability to customers arising from accidents, damage, or loss of goods.

In the course of our business, we may be exposed to claims from customers for theft, damage, or loss of temperature-sensitive goods transported by us. Road transport involves risks such as accidents, mechanical breakdowns, refrigeration unit failures, fuel shortages, and delays due to regulatory checks or road conditions. In certain cases, we may be required to compensate customers for losses or damages to goods. Insurance cover for all such risks may not always be available, or may be expensive, and even where available, it may not fully cover the loss incurred.

We operate a mix of owned vehicles and vehicles hired from third-party operators. Despite precautions and instructions, there remains a risk of accidents, equipment malfunction, driver error, or improper handling, which may result in spoilage of goods due to failure to maintain the required temperature, or in some cases, non-delivery. We may also face losses due to repair and maintenance of vehicles and refrigeration equipment, as well as claims arising from injury, loss of life, or damage to third-party property caused by accidents.

Further, unauthorized or improper use of vehicles may expose us to penalties, seizure of goods, or confiscation of vehicles. Certain goods transported may be perishable, sensitive, or hazardous. Any mishandling, temperature failure, or accident involving such goods could result in damage to goods, environmental harm, loss of property, personal injury, civil or criminal liability, penalties, or disruption of operations.

On certain occasions, due to unforeseen operational factors such as vehicle malfunction, temperature control failure, or other equipment issues, the goods in transit may suffer damage or deterioration. In such instances, the affected goods may become commercially unfit for their intended use. To uphold business integrity and maintain long-term relationships with customers, the Company compensates them for the losses incurred due to such incidents. These compensations are part of normal business operations and are treated as operational expenses arising from service obligations inherent in a cold chain logistics business. The Company continuously undertakes preventive maintenance and performance checks on its fleet and equipment to minimize such occurrences and ensure service reliability.

While the Company has not experienced any material instances of damage or loss of goods in the past, there have been limited and non-material instances where compensation was paid towards such shortages or damages. The amount of Shortage & Deductions for the preceding three financial years are as follows:

(Rs. in lakhs)

While we maintain insurance for certain risks, there can be no assurance that all losses will be covered or that future insurance will be available at acceptable costs. Any uninsured or underinsured liability, or incidents involving vehicles operated by us or third parties, could negatively affect our operations, financial condition, cash flows, and reputation.

14. We are in the process of registration of our logo

, any failure to protect or enforce our rights to own or use our trademark could have an adverse effect on our business and competitive positions. The Issuer Company has right to use the trademark which is owned by our material wholly-owned subsidiary i.e. Truckit India Private Limited.

We do not currently hold registered protection over the trademark that are critical to our business. In particular, our application for registration of the trademark ("TRUCK – IT DRIVEN WITH INTELLIGENCE BY POOJA LOGISTICS") under Class 39 in respect of transportation and storage of goods, including cold chain logistics, refrigerated transportation, warehousing and related services, has been filed by Pooja Logistics Limited with the Trade Marks Registry. The said application has been filed on January 22, 2025 vide application no. 6817459 and is presently pending for registration with the current status being "Accepted & Advertised".

We rely upon the brand equity and goodwill associated with our mark

, in connection with our transportation, cold storage and temperature-controlled logistics services. Any delay in securing registration, or any opposition, objection, or claim made by third parties, may adversely affect our ability to protect and enforce our rights in such marks.

Further, we also have right to use the trademark

("TRUCK – IT DRIVEN WITH INTELLIGENCE"), which is registered in the name of our material wholly-owned subsidiary, 'Truckit India Private Limited' pursuant to an assignment deed dated August 07, 2025 executed between our Company and the material wholly-owned subsidiary. While we believe such arrangement to be valid and legally enforceable, any challenge to the validity or enforceability of the assignment, or any dispute with the material wholly-owned subsidiary, may result in loss of rights to use the said trademark. Such an event could have a material adverse impact on our business operations, reputation, and financial condition.

Furthermore, as set out in the no-objection documentation dated December 09, 2024 executed for use of the trademark, our rights are subject to assignment and licensing arrangements. While appropriate applications for a new trademark have been filed with the Trade Marks Registry, we cannot assure you that such registrations will be completed in a timely manner or at all. Until such time as the trademarks are formally registered in our name, our ability to exercise exclusive ownership and enforcement rights over such intellectual property remains uncertain. We are dependent on the successful registration and protection of our trademarks for the continued growth of our business. Any inability to obtain or maintain trademark protection, resolve third-party oppositions, or defend our rights against infringement, could result in loss of brand distinctiveness, consumer confusion, or dilution of goodwill. This, in turn, may materially and adversely affect our business, reputation, results of operations and financial condition.

15. Our fleet of vehicles may be subject to traffic challans and violations, which are incidental to the logistics business.

In the ordinary course of our logistics and transportation operations, our fleet of commercial vehicles may be subject to traffic challans or other violations. Such instances are inherent to the industry and are generally resolved through Lok Adalats, as and when organized by the government. Recently, we have settled certain traffic challans in Lok Adalat proceedings, while the remaining challans are in the process of being settled and are expected to be resolved in a similar manner. While no significant or uncertain liability has arisen in this regard in the Past.

Further, there can be no assurance that future violations will not result in higher penalties, adverse publicity, or stricter enforcement measures. Any such developments could increase our operating costs or otherwise adversely affect our business, results of operations, and financial condition.

16. We are substantially and heavily dependent upon the services of our Promoters for our entire business. Further, our success depends largely upon the services of our Directors, Promoters and other Key Managerial Personnel and our ability to attract and retain them. Demand for key managerial personnel in the industry is intense and our inability to attract and retain key managerial, may affect the business and operations of our Company.

The entire business of our Company is substantially dependent upon the services of our Promoters. Success of our Company is largely dependent on the expertise and services of our Directors, Promoters and our Key Managerial Personnel. They provide expertise which enables us to make well informed decisions in relation to our business and our future prospects. Our Company's future performance will depend upon the continued services of these persons. Demand for Key Managerial Personnel in the industry is intense. We cannot assure you that we will be able to retain any or all, or that our succession planning will help to replace the key members of our management. The loss of the services of such key members of our management team and the failure of any succession plans to replace such key members could have an adverse effect on our business and the results of our operations. We cannot assure that we will be able to retain the services of our Directors, Promoters and other Key Managerial Personnel in the future or that our inability to retain will not have any adverse impact on our business operations. In addition, as we are substantially dependent upon the services of our promoters for our business, in case any or all of our promoters decides to disassociate from the Company, it will have a severe irreparable loss to the business of the Company.

17. Our company has experienced delayed filings of certain e-forms under Companies Act, 2013 with Registrar of Companies which may attract penalties, fines and other regulatory actions.

Our Company has, in the past, experienced delays in the filing of certain forms with the Registrar of Companies (ROC) as required under the Companies Act, 2013. While the company had paid additional fees as penalty for delayed filing and doesn't foresee any further action against the company, these delays may, in future, attract penalties, fines, and other regulatory actions against our Company, which may adversely affect our financial condition and reputation.

The details of some of the forms filed by our company with delay are provided below:

In addition to above, there are certain RoC forms for which the copies of challans showing the date of payment of filing fees and submission of the forms are not available with the company and therefore it their filing status as to whether these forms were submitted in time or not, cannot be ascertained.

While the Company has appointed Company secretary and compliance officer to ensure timely compliance in the future, any recurrence of such delays could result in additional penalties and may also impact our ability to undertake certain corporate actions that require Registrar of Companies (ROC) clearance. There can be no assurance that any such delays or associated penalties will not occur in the future.

18. Our Company had negative cash flow in recent fiscals, details of which are given below. Sustained negative cash flow could adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The detailed break up of cash flows based on Restated Consolidated Financial Information is summarized in below table and our Company has reported negative cash flow in the financial years is as mentioned below, which could affect our business and growth:

(Rs. in lakhs)

Particulars	For the Financial Year ended
	March 31, 2026	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024
Net cash flows (used in)/generated from operating activities	319.13	1,393.34	1,309.03
Net cash flows (used in)/generated from investing activities	(1,629.75)	(481.54)	(1,585.38)
Net cash flows (used in)/generated from financing activities	1,148.86	(411.65)	(31.45)
Net Change in Cash flow	(161.75)	500.15	(307.81)

Cash flows of a company are a key indicator to show the extent of cash generated from the operations of a company to meet capital expenditure, pay dividends, repay loans and make new investments without raising finance from external resources. If we are not able to generate sufficient cash flows, it may adversely affect our business and financial operations.

For further details, please refer to the chapter titled "Restated Financial Statements" beginning on page no. 206.

19. We intend to utilise a portion of the Net Issue Proceeds for funding our Capital Expenditure for purchase of trucks and equipment. We are yet to place orders for such equipment.

We intend to use the Net Issue Proceeds towards purchase of Vehicles and equipment for our transportation segment, out of total estimated capital expenditure of ₹ 3,397.39 lakhs, for entire proposed capital expenditure i.e. 100.00% orders are yet to be placed. We have obtained quotations based on which we have calculated estimated cost in relation to the purchase of trucks and ancillary equipment required. Obtained quotations are valid as on the date of this Red Herring Prospectus. Our Company intends to utilise 3,397.39 lakhs from the Net Issue Proceeds to purchase of trucks and equipment, there can be no assurance that we will be able to place orders for such vehicles and equipment's in a timely manner or at all. Further, in the event of any delay in placement of such orders, the proposed schedule implementation and deployment of the Net Issue Proceeds may be extended or may vary accordingly.

20. There are certain delays noticed in some of our records relating to filing of returns and deposit of statutory dues with the taxation and other statutory authorities.

In the past, our company has at several instances, delayed in filing GST returns and deposit of statutory dues with regards to EPF, ESIC as a result of which, we have been required to pay the late filing fees along with interest on delayed deposit of due taxes and statutory dues. The delay in filing certain GST returns occurred due to the nature of the Company's operations, where billing is dependent on kilometres travelled, route details, and confirmations from the customers end which were often received late and resulted in delays in preparing invoices and filing the corresponding GST returns. Additional delays arose from the time required to reconcile input tax credits, as well as occasional system-related issues on the GST portal. To address these issues, the Company has implemented stricter internal timelines for receiving operational data from customers, introduced automated tools such as eMIST Application to streamline GST and billing reconciliations, assigned dedicated personnel to oversee statutory compliance, and initiated the automation of its billing and data-collation processes to reduce manual intervention and ensure timely filings going forward.

Details of the same during the preceding 3 financial years and up to July 30, 2026 have been disclosed below:

TCS:

There are no such instances of non-compliance or delay in payment of TCS.

Income Tax:

There are no such instances of non-compliance or delay in payment of Income Tax.

21. We require certain approvals and licenses in the ordinary course of business and are required to comply with certain rules and regulations to operate our business, and the failure to obtain, retain and renew such approvals and licenses in a timely manner or comply with such rules and regulations or at all may adversely affect our operations.

We are required to hold various statutory and regulatory permits, licenses, and approvals to operate our business. We believe that we have obtained all requisite permits and licenses necessary for our current operations. However, we cannot assure that no additional statutory or regulatory requirements will arise in the future that we may need to comply with. Furthermore, some of these approvals are valid only for a specified period and require renewal from time to time. There can be no assurance that the relevant authorities will issue or renew such permits or approvals in a timely manner, or at all. Failure to obtain, renew, or maintain the required permits, licenses, or approvals could result in an interruption of our operations and may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, and results of operations. However, there have been no past instances where the Company was unable to obtain new approvals or licenses, or renew existing ones, for the smooth conduct of its operations.

In the future, the approvals required by our Company may be subject to certain conditions, and there can be no assurance that these would not be suspended or revoked in the event of non-compliance or alleged non-compliance with any terms or conditions thereof, or as a result of any regulatory action. Any failure by us to comply with applicable regulations, or any amendment to such regulations, could result in increased costs, penalties, revocation of approvals and permits, or disruption to our operations, any of which may adversely affect our business.

22. Our business involves usage of manpower and any unavailability of our employees or any strikes, work stoppages may have an adverse impact on our cash flows and results of operations.

Our business involves usage of manpower, and we are dependent on the availability of our employees. Unavailability of employees, strikes, and work stoppages may have an adverse impact on our cash flows and results of operations. However, there have been no past instances where company has experienced unavailability of manpower, strikes or work stoppages.

In future, we may not be able to secure the required number of employees for the timely execution of orders. We are subject to laws and regulations relating to employee welfare and benefits such as minimum wage, working conditions, employee insurance, and other such employee benefits and any changes to existing legislations.

Further, there can be no assurance that disruptions in our business will not be experienced if there are strikes, work stoppages, disputes, or other problems. This may adversely affect our business and cash flows and results of operations.

23. We depend significantly on our vendors to provide transport facilities. A loss of, or a significant decrease in services provided by our vendors could adversely affect our business and profitability.

The Company relies on third-party vendors to provide some transportation services, when our own vehicles aren't available. This dependence exposes the Company to the risks associated with the performance and stability of these vendors. Any disruptions or significant decreases in the transportation industry could impact these services' availability, reliability, and cost, directly affecting the Company's ability to fulfil its contractual obligations and meet customer demands. If the Company loses any transportation provider, it may be difficult to find a suitable replacement quickly and at competitive rates. Consolidation within the transportation industry could lead to reduced competition and increased prices for services, impacting the Company's profitability. A downturn in the transportation industry could lead to decreased demand for services, putting pressure on the Company's margins and revenue. A shortage of qualified drivers or other transportation personnel could lead to service disruptions and increased costs.

As on March 31, 2026, 67.63% of our revenue is generated from the owned fleet of 424 vehicles, while the remaining approx. 32.37% of the revenue is dependent on hired vehicles. This continued reliance on outsourced vehicles affects operational efficiency as

(i) hire charges are higher than the cost of operating owned vehicles,
(ii) availability of hired vehicles fluctuates, and
(iii) the Company has limited control over maintenance standards, driver quality, and turnaround time.

The bifurcation between revenue from owned fleet and hired fleet for preceding 3 financial years are as follows:

(Rs. in Lakhs)

Particulars	2025-26		2024-25		2023-24
	Amount	%*	Amount	%*	Amount	%*
Number of Owned Vehicles	424		364		361
Revenue from Owned Vehicles	11,206.93	67.63	9,878.30	66.40	9,590.38	77.50
Revenue from Hired Vehicles	5,363.17	32.37	4,992.06	33.56	2,782.58	22.49
Revenue from Operations	16,570.10	100.00	14,877.10	100.00	12,375.26	100.00

% of Revenue from Operations.*

Notes:

1. The data mentioned above are derived from Restated Consolidated Financial Statements.
2. The total number of hired vehicles cannot be determined, as such number varies during the year depending on operational requirements. The revenue bifurcation between owned and hired vehicles has been determined based on an internal assessment. Accordingly, the said bifurcation represents a reasonable approximation. The Company's revenue dependency in this regard has been duly disclosed above.

However, the Company has not incurred any such losses in the past, as it presently maintains a sufficient fleet and manpower to mitigate the impact of any temporary non-availability of vehicles from vendors.

24. Some of our Key Managerial Personnel have been associated with the Company for less than one year, which may affect continuity of management and execution of business strategies.

Our Key Management Personnel, Company Secretary & Compliance Officer is associated with the Company for a period of less than one year therefore they may not have been accustomed to the Company affairs till date. For details of Key Management Personnel and their appointment, please refer to chapter "Our Management" beginning on page 181.

25. Our success depends in large part upon our qualified personnel, including our senior management, directors and key personnel and our ability to attract and retain them when necessary.

Our operations are dependent on our ability to attract and retain qualified personnel. While we believe that we currently have adequate qualified personnel, we may not be able to continuously attract or retain such personnel, or retain them on acceptable terms, given the demand for such personnel. The loss of the services of our qualified personnel may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition. We may require a long period of time to hire and train replacement personnel when qualified personnel terminate their employment with our Company. We may also be required to increase our levels of employee compensation more rapidly than in the past to remain competitive in attracting the qualified employees that our business requires. Furthermore, our senior management team is integral to the success of our business. However, we cannot assure you that we will be able to retain any or all of our management team. Any loss of our senior management or key personnel or our inability to recruit further senior managers or other key personnel could impede our growth by impairing our day-to-day operations and hindering our development of ongoing and planned projects and our ability to develop, maintain and expand customer relationships.

26. Our Company's insurance coverage may not be adequate to cover all losses associated with our business operations.

We procure insurance for our operations against third-party liability, transportation risks, and employees' health. Our existing insurance coverage may be insufficient to cover all the risks associated with our business and operations, for example the risks involved in accidental damages arising out of handling, operating and maintaining of equipment outsourced from third parties on lease. Typically, our customers are responsible for obtaining insurance policy for their respective consignment transported through our logistics services and solutions. In certain cases, depending on the business arrangement, we may undertake to obtain insurance on behalf of our customers for their consignment. In the case of an uninsured loss or a loss in excess of insured limits, including those caused by natural disasters and other events beyond our control, we may be required to pay for losses, damages and liabilities out of our own funds, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. Even if our insurance coverage is adequate to cover our direct losses, we may not be able to take remedial actions or other appropriate measures. Furthermore, our claim records may affect the premiums which insurance companies may charge us in the future. Further, even if our insurance coverage is adequate, we may not be able to successfully claim the entire damage. Re-imbursement and indemnity of damages by insurance companies generally involve strict inspection and verification procedures. However, in the past Company did not experience any loss due to claim exceeding insurance cover.

Other than vehicles, company has not obtained insurance for its fixed assets, including office equipment, furniture, computers, and other miscellaneous items.

The Company has not experienced any instance during the last three financial years where an insurance claim has exceeded the amount of liability or insurance cover. Accordingly, there have been no losses beyond the insured coverage during the said period.

The details of our total insurance coverage and our insurance coverage as a percentage of our net assets, for Fiscal 2026, Fiscal 2025 and Fiscal 2024 has been set out below:

(in ₹ lakh, unless specified otherwise)

Particulars	As at March 31, 2026	As at March 31, 2025	As at March 31, 2024
Insurance Coverage* (A)	2,486.05	1,758.23	1,969.15
Net assets as per Restated Financial Statements (B)	2,515.21	1,773.91	1,982.12
Insurance coverage % of the net assets (A/B)	98.84%	99.12%	99.35%

 Insurance Coverage means the Written Down Value (WDV) of the fixed assets insured by the Company as at the respective reporting dates.*

Net assets = Property, Plant and Equipment (net block) +Capital Work in Progress + Investment Property (Buildings net block) + Inventories*

* Insurance coverage % of the net assets = Total insurance coverage amount by considering insurance policies of property, plant and equipment and inventories/ Net assets*

Notes:

1. Our Company did not experience any loss due to claim exceeding insurance cover.
2. There have been no past instances where any claim has exceeded the liability insurance cover during the last three financial years.

27. There is no monitoring agency appointed by Our Company to monitor the utilization of the Issue proceeds and deployment of the issue is entirely at the discretion of the issuer.

As per SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018, as amended, appointment of monitoring agency is required only for Issue size above ₹ 5,000.00 lakhs. Hence, we have not appointed any monitoring agency to monitor the utilization of Issue proceeds and because of such, deployment of the issue is entirely at the discretion of the issuer. However, the audit committee of our Board will monitor the utilization of Issue proceeds in terms of SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015. Further, our Company shall inform about material deviations in the utilization of Issue proceeds to the stock exchange and shall also simultaneously make the material deviations / adverse comments of the audit committee public.

28. Our ability to pay dividends in the future will depend upon our future earnings, financial condition, cash flows, working capital requirements, capital expenditure and restrictive covenants in our financing arrangements.

We may retain all our future earnings, if any, for use in the operations and expansion of our business. As a result, we may not declare dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Board of Directors and will depend on factors that our Board of Directors deem relevant, including among others, our results of operations, financial condition, working capital requirements, business prospects and any other financing arrangements. Accordingly, realization of a gain on shareholder's investments may largely depend upon the appreciation of the price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that our Equity Shares will appreciate in value. For details of our dividend history, see "Dividend Policy" begging on page 205.

29. The requirements of being a publicly listed company may strain our resources.

We are not a publicly listed company and have not, historically, been subjected to the increased scrutiny of our affairs by shareholders, regulators and the public at large that is associated with being a listed company. As a listed company, we will incur significant legal, accounting, corporate governance and other expenses that we did not incur as an unlisted company. We will be subject to the SEBI Listing Regulations, which will require us to file audited annual and unaudited quarterly reports with respect to our business and financial condition. If we experience any delays, we may fail to satisfy our reporting obligations and, or, we may not be able to readily determine and accordingly report any changes in our results of operations as promptly as other listed companies. Further, as a publicly listed company, we will need to maintain and improve the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting, including keeping adequate records of daily transactions. In order to maintain and improve the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting, significant resources and management attention will be required. As a result, our management's attention may be diverted from our business concerns, which may adversely affect our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

Any further issuance of Equity Shares, or convertible securities or other equity-linked instruments by us may dilute investors' shareholding. We may be required to finance our growth through future equity offerings. Any future equity issuances by us, including a primary offering of Equity Shares, convertible securities or securities linked to Equity Shares including through exercise of employee stock options, may lead to the dilution of investors' shareholdings in our Company. Any future equity issuances by us or sales of our Equity Shares by the Promoters may adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares, which may lead to other adverse consequences including difficulty in raising capital through offering of our Equity Shares or incurring additional debt. In addition, any perception by investors that such issuances or sales might occur may also affect the market price of our Equity Shares. We cannot assure that we will not issue Equity Shares, convertible securities or securities linked to Equity Shares or that our Shareholders will not dispose of, pledge or encumber their Equity Shares in the future objects of the Issue without the Company being authorized to do so by our shareholders by way of special resolution and other compliances as applicable in this regard. Our Promoters and controlling shareholders shall provide exit opportunity to such shareholders who do not agree to the proposal to vary the objects, at such price, and in such manner, as may be prescribed by SEBI, in this regard.

30. Any investment in the Equity Shares is subject to general risk related to investments in Indian Companies.

Our Company is incorporated in India and all of our assets and employees are located in India. Consequently, our business, results of operations, financial condition and the market price of the Equity Shares will be affected by changes in interest rates in India, policies of the Government of India, including taxation policies along with policies relating to industry, political, social and economic developments affecting India.

31. Any variation in the utilization of the Net Proceeds of the Issue as disclosed in this Red Herring Prospectus shall be subject to certain compliance requirements, including prior Shareholders' approval.

We propose to utilize the Net Proceeds for Funding capital expenditure requirement of our Company towards purchase of trucks ("Vehicles") and ancillary equipment and General Corporate Purposes. For further details of the proposed objects of the Issue, please see chapter titled "Objects of the Issue" beginning on page 94. In accordance with Section 27 of the Companies Act, 2013 and other applicable laws, we cannot undertake any variation in the utilization of the Net Proceeds as disclosed in this Red Herring Prospectus without obtaining the shareholders' approval through a special resolution. In the event of any such circumstances that requires us to undertake variation in the disclosed utilization of the Net Proceeds, we may not be able to obtain the Shareholders' approval in a timely manner, or at all. Any delay or inability in obtaining such Shareholders' approval may adversely affect our business or operations. Further, our Promoters or controlling shareholders would be required to provide an exit opportunity to the shareholders who do not agree Issue with our proposal to modify the objects of the Issue as prescribed in the SEBI ICDR Regulations. If our shareholders exercise such exit option, our business and financial condition could be adversely affected. Therefore, we may not be able to undertake variation of objects of the Issue to use any unutilized proceeds of the Issue, if any, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company, which may restrict our ability to respond to any change in our business or financial condition, and may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

32. The price of our Equity Shares may be volatile, or an active trading market for our Equity Shares may not develop.

Prior to this Issue, there has been no public market for our Equity Shares. Our Company and the Book Running Lead Manager has appointed Share India Securities Limited & Prabhat Financial Services Limited as Designated Market Makers for the equity shares of our Company. However, the trading price of our Equity Shares may fluctuate after this Issue due to a variety of factors, including our results of operations and the performance of our business, competitive conditions, general economic, political and social factors, the performance of the Indian and global economy and significant developments in India's fiscal regime, volatility in the Indian and global securities market, performance of our competitors, the Indian Capital Markets and Finance industry, changes in the estimates of our performance or recommendations by financial analysts and announcements by us or others regarding contracts, acquisitions, strategic partnership, joint ventures, or capital commitments.

33. There is no guarantee that the Equity Shares issued pursuant to the Issue will be listed on the NSE EMERGE in a timely manner or at all.

In accordance with Indian law and practice, permission for listing and trading of the Equity Shares issued pursuant to the Issue will not be granted until after the Equity Shares have been issued and allotted. Approval for listing and trading will require all relevant documents authorizing the issuing of Equity Shares to be submitted. There could be a failure or delay in listing the Equity Shares on the NSE EMERGE. Any failure or delay in obtaining the approval would restrict your ability to dispose of your Equity Shares.

34. Any future issuance of Equity Shares may dilute your shareholding and sale of our Equity Shares by our Promoters or other shareholders may adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

Any future equity issuances by us, including in a primary offering, may lead to the dilution of investors' shareholdings in our Company. Any future equity issuances by us or sales of our Equity Shares by our Promoters or other major shareholders may adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares. In addition, any perception by investors that such issuances or sales might occur could also affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

35. There are restrictions on daily weekly monthly movement in the price of the equity shares, which may adversely affect the shareholder's ability to sell for the price at which it can sell, equity shares at a particular point in time.

Once listed, we would be subject to circuit breakers imposed by the stock exchange, which does not allow transactions beyond specified increases or decreases in the price of the Equity Shares. This circuit breaker operates independently of the index- based market-wide circuit breakers generally imposed by SEBI. The percentage limit on circuit breakers is said by the stock exchange based on the historical volatility in the price and trading volume of the Equity Shares. The stock exchange does not inform us of the percentage limit of the circuit breaker in effect from time to time, and may change it without our knowledge. This circuit breaker limits the upward and downward movements in the price of the Equity Shares. As a result of the circuit breaker, no assurance may be given regarding your ability to sell your Equity Shares or the price at which you may be able to sell your Equity Shares at any particular time.

36. You may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on the sale of the Equity Shares.

Under the Income-tax Act, 1961, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares in an Indian Company are generally taxable in India except any gain realized on the sale of shares on a Stock Exchange held for more than 12 months will not be subject to capital gains tax in India if the Securities Transaction Tax ("STT") has been paid on the transaction. The STT will be levied on and collected by an Indian Stock Exchange on which equity shares are sold. Any gain realized on the sale of shares held for more than 12 months to an Indian resident, which are sold other than on a recognized Stock Exchange and as a result of which no STT has been paid, will be subject to long term capital gains tax in India. Further, any gain realized on the sale of shares on a Stock Exchange held for a period of 12 months or less will be subject to short term capital gains tax. Further, any gain realized on the sale of listed equity shares held for a period of 12 months or less which are sold other than on a recognized stock exchange and on which no STT has been paid, will be subject to short term capital gains tax at a relatively higher rate as compared to the transaction where STT has been paid in India.

Capital gains arising from the sale of shares will be exempt from taxation in India in cases where an exemption is provided under a tax treaty between India and the country of which the seller is a resident. Generally, Indian tax treaties do not limit India's ability to impose tax on capital gains. As a result, residents of other countries may be liable for tax in India as well as in their own jurisdictions on gains arising from a sale of the shares subject to relief available under the applicable tax treaty or under the laws of their own jurisdiction.

37. Significant differences exist between Indian GAAP and other accounting principles, such as US GAAP and IFRS, which may be material to investors assessments of Our Company's financial condition. Our failure to successfully adopt IFRS may have an adverse effect on the price of our Equity Shares. The proposed adoption of IFRS could result in our financial condition and results of operations appearing materially different than under Indian GAAP.

Our restated financial statements, including the financial statements provided in this Red Herring Prospectus, are prepared in accordance with Indian GAAP. We have not attempted to quantify the impact of IFRS or U.S. GAAP on the financial data included in this Red Herring Prospectus, nor do we provide a reconciliation of our financial statements to those of U.S. GAAP or IFRS.

Accordingly, the degree to which the Indian GAAP financial statements included in this Red Herring Prospectus will provide meaningful information is entirely dependent on the reader's level of familiarity with Indian accounting practices. Any reliance by persons not familiar with Indian accounting practices on the financial disclosures presented in this Red Herring Prospectus should accordingly be limited. India has decided to adopt the "Convergence of its existing standards with IFRS" and not the "International Financial Reporting Standards" ("IFRS"), which was announced by the MCA, through the press note dated January 22, 2010. These "IFRS based / synchronized Accounting Standards" are referred to in India as IND (AS). Public companies in India, including our Company, may be required to prepare annual and interim financial statements under IND (AS). The MCA, through a press release dated February 25, 2011, announced that it will implement the converged accounting standards in a phased manner after various issues, including tax related issues, are resolved. Further, MCA Notification dated February 16, 2015, has provided an exemption to the Companies proposing to list their shares on the SME Exchange as per Chapter IX of the SEBI ICDR Regulations and hence the adoption of Indian GAAP by a SME exchange listed Company is voluntary. Accordingly, the Company adopted Indian GAAP. We have made no attempt to quantify or identify the impact of the differences between Indian GAAP and IFRS or to quantify the impact of the difference between Indian GAAP and IFRS as applied to its financial statements.

38. Foreign investors are subject to foreign investment restrictions under Indian law that limits our ability to attract foreign investors, which may adversely impact the market price of the Equity Shares.

Under the foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfers of shares between non-residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If the transfer of shares, which are sought to be transferred, is not in compliance with such pricing guidelines or reporting requirements or fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert the Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection/ tax clearance certificate from the income tax authority. There can be no assurance that any approval required from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

39. Unfavorable Media Coverage or Negative Publicity of Our Partners May Adversely Affect Our Brand, Business, Financial Condition, Cash Flows, and Results of Operations.

The Company's business and reputation may be impacted by the media coverage or publicity associated with its business partners, affiliates, or suppliers. Any negative publicity or unfavourable media coverage of the companies with whom the Company has partnered could harm the Company's brand image, customer perception, and market standing. Such negative attention could also have a cascading effect on the Company's financial performance, affecting its cash flows, profitability, and results of operations, even if the Company itself is not directly involved in the matter at hand.

40. We have not independently verified certain data in this Red Herring Prospectus.

We have not independently verified data from the Industry and related data contained under the chapter titled Industry Overview of this Red Herring Prospectus and although we believe the sources mentioned in the report to be reliable, we cannot assure you that they are complete or reliable. Such data may also be produced on a different basis from comparable information compiled with regards to other countries. Therefore, discussions of matters relating to India, its economy or the industries in which we operate that is included herein are subject to the caveat that the statistical and other data upon which such discussions are based have not been verified by us and may be incomplete, inaccurate or unreliable. Due to incorrect or ineffective data collection methods or discrepancies between published information and market practice and other problems, the statistics herein may be inaccurate or may not be comparable to statistics produced elsewhere and should not be unduly relied upon. Further, we cannot assure you that they are stated or compiled on the same basis or with the same degree of accuracy, as the case may be, elsewhere.

41. Certain key performance indicators for certain listed industry peers included in this Red Herring Prospectus have been sourced from public sources and there is no assurance that such financial and other industry information is complete.

Pursuant to the requirements of the SEBI ICDR Regulations dated November 21, 2022, we have included certain key Performance indicators, comprising financial and operational information, for certain listed industry peers, in the "Basis for Issue Price" beginning on page 103. Although this information is sourced from and relied upon on the audited financial statements of the relevant listed industry peers as available on the website~~s~~ of the National Stock Exchange of India Limited at www.nseindia.com and BSE Limited at www.bseindia.com, including the annual reports for the financial year ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024 of the respective companies submitted to NSE and BSE, there is no assurance that this information with respect to industry peers is either complete. There are different methodologies and formulas used to compute the various ratios.

42. If we are unable to effectively utilise the purchased container space and truck capacity, our business, results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected.

Our business operations depends on the effective use of its container space and truck capacity. If we are not able to fully utilize the purchased container space or its available truck fleet, it may lead to lower revenue and higher fixed costs.

Such underutilization may occur due to lower demand, delays in receiving orders, operational inefficiencies, or other factors beyond the Company's control. Continued non-utilization of capacity could increase per-trip costs such as fuel, driver wages, and maintenance expenses.

Any prolonged period of underutilization may have an adverse impact on the Company's business operations, financial performance, and profitability. To mitigate this risk, we continuously monitors vehicle deployment, route planning, and customer demand patterns to optimize fleet utilization. The Company also maintains flexibility through a mix of owned and hired vehicles, enabling adjustments to capacity based on demand.

43. Our business is dependent on the road network and uninterrupted utilisation of vehicles, and any disruption may adversely affect our operations and results.

Our business operations, i.e., goods transportation business, are dependent on the condition and availability of the road network and on the uninterrupted functioning of our fleet. Factors such as political unrest, adverse weather, natural calamities, driver fatigue, vehicle breakdowns, accidents, or third-party negligence may affect the regularity of operations and result in delays in deliveries, damage to temperature-controlled cargo. We may be held liable to pay compensation for losses incurred by our customers in such cases and for losses or injuries sustained by other third parties. Further, such delays or damage may cause a loss of reputation. In the event that the goods to be delivered have a short shelf life, any delay in delivery could also expose the Company to additional losses and claims. Although some of these risks are beyond our control, we may still be liable for the condition and timely delivery of such refrigerated goods, and any disruptions or delays could adversely affect the Company and lead to a loss of reputation or profitability.

However, there have been limited past instances of vehicle breakdowns and route disruptions due to external factors such as poor road conditions and regional disturbances, leading to short-term delays in delivery. The Company has taken steps to address and reduce such risks, including:

- Regular maintenance and inspection of vehicles.
- Use of GPS tracking for monitoring vehicle movement and planning routes.
- Implementation of driver training and rotation schedules to reduce fatigue.
- Planning of alternative routes to manage transport disruptions.

These measures are intended to support operational continuity and reduce the likelihood of disruptions. For further details regarding our business, please refer to the section titled "Our Business" on page no 124.

44. Our business is dependent on our customers' business performance, developments in their respective markets and industries, and their continued outsourcing of logistics operations, and any adverse change may affect our business and results of operations.

Our business operations are closely linked to the performance of its customers' industries and their requirement for transportation and logistics services. Any slowdown or adverse development in the industries of our major customers, such as reduced production, lower sales volumes, or changes in supply chain structures, may result in a decline in the volume of logistics services required.

urther, if any of our key customers decide to reduce outsourcing by managing logistics operations internally or changing service providers, it could have an adverse impact on the Company's revenue and business performance.

While there have been no material past instances of major customers discontinuing outsourcing or significantly reducing business volumes in the past three years, the Company recognizes this dependency as an inherent business risk. To manage this, the Company has taken steps such as:

- Diversifying its customer base across multiple industries and regions to reduce concentration risk.
- Maintaining long-standing customer relationships through consistent service performance.
- Monitoring customer demand trends and aligning operations to maintain service efficiency.

Further, we continuously monitor the concentration of its customer portfolio and the extent of logistics outsourcing in the industry to manage potential exposure to such risks.

45. We may not be successful in implementing our growth and business strategies, which could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

The Company's future growth and profitability depend on its ability to successfully implement its business strategies, including expanding service offerings, optimizing supply chain operations, integrating new technologies, and entering new markets. The logistics industry is highly competitive and rapidly evolving, with increasing customer expectations, technological advancements, and regulatory complexities.

There is a risk that the Company may not be successful in executing these strategic initiatives effectively or within the anticipated timeframes. Challenges may include difficulties in adapting to new technologies, higher-than-expected implementation costs, disruptions during operational changes, or inadequate employee training and resource allocation. Additionally, external factors such as changes in trade regulations, fuel price volatility, or macroeconomic conditions could adversely impact the success of strategic initiatives.

Failure to achieve the intended outcomes of these strategies could negatively affect the Company's operational efficiency, market position, and financial performance.

However, Company has not any such non-implementation of strategy in past three years.

46. There can be no assurance that the improvement in our profit after tax margins over the past three financial years will be sustained.

The Company has reported an increase in its profit after tax (PAT) margin over the past three financial years. While this trend reflects improvements in operational efficiency, cost management, and revenue mix, there can be no assurance that such levels of profitability will be sustained in the future. A decline in profitability could materially and adversely affect the Company's financial condition, results of operations, and its ability to achieve anticipated growth or return on investment.

Various factors, including intensifying competition, fluctuations in input costs, changes in regulatory or taxation frameworks, shifts in customer demand, or unforeseen operational challenges, could adversely impact profitability. Additionally, investments in new business initiatives, technology, or expansion may result in higher expenses and could reduce PAT margins in the near term.

If the Company is unable to sustain or improve its PAT margins, its financial performance, growth prospects, and return to shareholders could be materially and adversely affected.

47. Our business is exposed to uncertain and adverse weather conditions, which may disrupt operations and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our business is exposed to unpredictable and extreme weather conditions, including heavy rainfall, storms, flooding, heatwaves, and cold spells. Such events may disrupt transportation routes, delay deliveries, and adversely affect the timely movement of goods. Although we have contingency measures in place, including alternate routing and fleet management systems, there can be no assurance that such measures will fully mitigate the impact of adverse weather. Any significant disruption due to weather conditions could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

48. The industry in which we operate is labour intensive, and our operations are dependent on the availability, productivity and retention of manpower, which may adversely affect our business and operations.

The logistics industry in which Company operates is highly labour intensive. Our operations depend on the availability of skilled personnel, including drivers and operational support teams. Recruiting, training, and retaining qualified employees is critical to maintaining operational efficiency, timely deliveries, and service quality.

The Company may face challenges such as shortages of skilled labour, rising wage costs, employee turnover, or labour disputes, any of which could disrupt operations. In addition, compliance with labour laws and regulations, including those relating to wages, working hours, safety, and employee benefits, is essential and may require significant administrative efforts and costs. Failure to manage these labour related risks effectively could lead to increased operational expenses, service delays, or other operational inefficiencies, which could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Till date company has not experienced any challenges in during its operations due to unavailability of labour.

49. Any misconduct, negligence or failure by our employees to maintain confidentiality of information may adversely affect our business, reputation, results of operations and financial condition.

Our operations require employees and drivers to access confidential information, including customer details, route data, pricing information, and operational records. Any misconduct by employees such as unauthorized disclosure, misuse, or mishandling of confidential or sensitive information whether intentional or negligent, could result in loss of data, breach of confidentiality obligations, exposure to legal claims, and damage to our reputation.

While we have implemented internal controls, training, and confidentiality obligations, we may not always be able to prevent or promptly detect such actions. Any failure by employees to adhere to ethical standards or maintain confidentiality may adversely affect our business, results of operations, and financial condition. While we have not experienced any such instances which adversely impacted our business and results of operations in the last three financial years, we cannot assure you that such instances will not arise in the future.

50. Our revenue is substantially dependent on existing customers, and loss of such customers could adversely affect our business.

A significant portion of our revenue is derived from existing or long-standing customers who rely on us for temperature-controlled transportation of their goods. Our business and growth prospects are closely linked to the continued patronage of these customers. Any reduction in shipments, change in logistics providers, renegotiation of contract terms, or shift to alternative cold-chain service providers could materially reduce our revenue.

Given the specialized nature of temperature-controlled logistics, replacing lost business from established customers with new customers on comparable terms may be challenging and may take substantial time. Any decline in orders or disruption in relationships with key customers may adversely affect our operational efficiency, revenue, financial condition, and results of operations.

51. The success of our business depends on the availability and adequacy of infrastructure support and facilities in the areas in which we operate or intend to operate, and any deficiency may adversely affect our business and operations.

The Company's operations rely heavily on the availability and reliability of cold-chain related infrastructure and support facilities such as quality road networks, fuel availability, reliable power supply for reefer units, and access to maintenance and repair services in the regions where it operates or intends to expand. Since the Company is solely engaged in temperature-controlled transportation, any inadequacy or disruption in such infrastructure can directly impact its ability to maintain required temperature standards throughout transit.

Poor road conditions, traffic congestion, and insufficient cold-chain support points (including reefer plug-in points, emergency service stations, and certified repair workshops) significantly increase the risk of temperature excursions, cargo spoilage, and delays. In regions where such infrastructure is underdeveloped or inconsistent, the Company may incur higher operating costs due to fuel inefficiencies, increased maintenance needs, and longer turnaround times.

Any deterioration, delay in development, or lack of adequate cold-chain–specific infrastructure may adversely affect the Company's service quality, its relationships with customers, and ultimately its business, financial condition, and results of operations.

52. Intense competition for skilled employees and increasing wage and salary costs may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our ability to operate an efficient and reliable cold chain network depends on maintaining a workforce with specialized skills, including certified refrigeration technicians and experienced commercial drivers capable of handling temperature-sensitive products. The supply of workers with these qualifications is limited, and competition for them has intensified as demand for high-quality cold chain services increases across the food, pharmaceutical, and biotech sectors.

To attract and retain qualified personnel, we may be required to offer higher wages, enhanced benefits, or additional training and incentive programs. In addition, broader labor-market pressures such as inflation, regulatory changes affecting minimum wage or overtime rules, and shortages of certified drivers and skilled refrigeration technicians continue to drive up labor costs across our industry.

If we are unable to recruit or retain employees with the necessary technical expertise, we may experience operational disruptions, reduced service quality, increased reliance on third-party contractors, and higher maintenance and training expenditures. Any significant increase in labor costs, or any sustained difficulty in attracting and retaining skilled personnel, could reduce our operating margins and materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

To date, the Company has maintained stable retention levels across its key operational and technical roles, supported by competitive compensation packages, ongoing training initiatives, and a supportive work environment. While past experience indicates that the Company has been successful in retaining qualified personnel, this historical performance may not be indicative of future results.

53. Non-compliance with data protection and privacy laws, including the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, or cybersecurity incidents may adversely affect our business, operations and reputation.

Our operations involve the collection, processing, and storage of certain categories of personal data, including employee information, driver details, customer contact information, and GPS-based route and vehicle movement data. Although we are focused solely on temperature-controlled transportation and do not operate warehousing or other cold-chain segments, we rely extensively on digital platforms for fleet monitoring, route optimization, trip documentation, e-invoicing, and communication with customers and drivers. As a result, we are subject to increasing obligations under the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 ("DPDP Act"), including requirements relating to lawful processing, purpose limitation, data security, consent management, data retention, and rights of data principals.

Further, our reliance on technology for vehicle telematics, temperature-monitoring systems, and digital communication exposes us to cybersecurity risks, including potential unauthorized access, data breaches, ransomware attacks, or theft of operational data such as route plans and real-time temperature logs. Cyber incidents may disrupt transportation operations, compromise the integrity of temperature-controlled cargo, and result in loss of sensitive information belonging to customers, employees, or drivers. Any such event could lead to service interruptions, regulatory action, customer claims, and erosion of customer trust.

Failure to effectively safeguard data or to comply with data-protection obligations may adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

54. Climate change related risks, including water stress and transition to lower-carbon energy sources, may adversely affect our operations and business sustainability.

Our business model relies on energy-intensive refrigeration systems, continuous temperature control, and dependable transportation networks. As climate conditions become more volatile, our facilities and fleet may face increased exposure to extreme heat, severe weather events, flooding, and regional water shortages. Higher temperatures can significantly increase the energy required to maintain cold storage environments, raise operating costs, and place additional strain on refrigeration equipment. In addition, prolonged water stress or local water-use restrictions may impair certain facility operations, such as sanitation and cooling processes, potentially disrupting service levels.

In addition, the global transition toward a low-carbon economy presents regulatory, operational, and financial risks. Governments and industry regulators continue to implement stricter emissions standards, energy-efficiency mandates, refrigerant phase-downs (including those targeting high-GWP refrigerants), and reporting requirements. Compliance with these evolving regulations may require significant capital investments in new technologies, alternative refrigerants, electric or low-emissions vehicles, renewable energy sourcing, and infrastructure upgrades. Delays in adopting such technologies, or an inability to do so cost-effectively, could impair our competitiveness and operational reliability.

Furthermore, fluctuations in energy prices, carbon taxes, emissions-trading costs, and potential penalties for non-compliance may increase our cost structure. Customer expectations for sustainable logistics solutions are also rising, and our inability to meet those expectations could adversely affect our market position.

To date, the Company has not experienced any material disruptions or operational impacts related to climate, water stress, or carbon- and energy-transition requirements. Any of these factors could raise costs, require substantial capital expenditures, disrupt service quality, and materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Any combination of these climate-related and energy-transition risks could increase our operating expenses, disrupt our service levels, reduce asset life cycles, require significant capital expenditures, and materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

55. Changes in sanctions regimes, trade policies or imposition of non-tariff barriers may adversely affect our business, operations and supply chain.

Our operations are subject to risks arising from changes in trade policies, international sanctions, and non-tariff barriers, including import/export restrictions, licensing requirements, customs regulations, and tariffs. Any such changes could disrupt our supply chain, delay shipments, increase costs, or limit our ability to serve certain markets or customers. While we seek to comply with applicable regulations, there can be no assurance that such measures will not materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, or results of operations.

However, the Company's revenue from export is only 0.01% of the total revenue from operations for Fiscal year 2026.

56. Pricing pressure from customers may adversely affect our gross margins, profitability and ability to increase prices.

The Company operates in the cold chain logistics sector, where customers, particularly in the food, pharmaceutical, and perishable goods industries, are highly price-sensitive and demand cost-efficient transportation solutions. Intense competition and long-term service contracts often restrict the Company's ability to increase prices or pass on rising operational costs to customers.

Cold chain operations require significant investment in temperature-controlled vehicles, specialized equipment, energy, and compliance with stringent safety and quality standards. Increases in fuel prices, refrigeration costs, maintenance expenses, or regulatory compliance requirements may not be fully recoverable through pricing adjustments due to customer pressure and competitive market conditions.

Sustained pricing pressure could adversely impact the Company's gross margins and profitability, limit its ability to invest in advanced cold chain technologies, and negatively affect its long-term financial performance and market competitiveness.

57. We are exposed to the risk of delays or non-payment by our customers and other counterparties, which may adversely affect our cash flows and financial condition.

Our Company provides logistics and transportation services on credit terms mutually agreed with its customers. Generally, the Company allows a credit period of 45-60 days for payment from customers. Accordingly, the Company is exposed to the risk of delays or non-recovery of dues from certain customers or counterparties, which may impact its cash flows and working capital position.

There have been occasional delays in payment from some customers in the past, for instance, when clients take additional time for bill processing, internal approval, or system reconciliation, or when new customers take time to streamline payment procedures. In certain cases, shortages or deductions have also occurred, such as an instance where a client reported loss of goods during transit, and the Company had to bear the related loss. Any such delays, deductions, or non-payments could adversely affect the Company's financial position and profitability.

To address and mitigate such risks, we have adopted the following measures:

- Conducting credit assessments before onboarding new customers.
- Periodic monitoring and follow-up for timely recovery of outstanding dues.
- Maintaining clear documentation and reconciliation records to promptly resolve any disputes or claims.

These measures help manage receivables and minimize the impact of delayed payments.

58. A majority of our Directors do not have prior experience as directors of listed entities, which may affect our compliance and governance practices as a listed company.

Most of our Directors have not previously served as directors of a listed company and therefore may not have prior experience in complying with the governance, regulatory, and disclosure requirements applicable to a listed entity. As a result, there may be a learning curve in adapting to the increased compliance obligations, corporate governance practices, and procedural requirements prescribed under SEBI regulations and the Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements.

While our directors possess extensive experience in business management, logistics operations, finance, and administration, the absence of prior listed-company board experience could, initially, pose challenges in ensuring complete familiarity with the regulatory environment applicable to listed entities.

To mitigate this risk, the Company has appointed qualified professionals, including a full-time Company Secretary and Compliance Officer, and has constituted the required Board Committees to ensure adherence to statutory and listing requirements. Additionally, periodic training and familiarization programs will be conducted for the Directors to acquaint them with their roles, responsibilities, and compliance obligations as directors of a listed company.

Further, there can be no assurance that the transition to operating as a listed company will be seamless, and any delay or non-compliance in meeting listing obligations could have an adverse effect on the Company's reputation and regulatory standing.

59. Our business may be adversely affected by employee attrition and our ability to retain permanent employees.

As of March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025, and March 31, 2024, the Company had 96, 77, and 89 permanent employees, respectively. The attrition rates for the last three financial years were approximately 24.28%, 26.51%, and 20.93%, calculated based on the total number of permanent employees.

The logistics industry generally experiences a certain level of employee movement, particularly among drivers and operational staff. However, if the Company is unable to retain key employees or faces higher-than-expected attrition in the future, it may result in operational inefficiencies, increased recruitment and training costs, and disruptions in service delivery.

While the Company strives to maintain a stable workforce through regular engagement, training, and providing competitive compensation, there can be no assurance that such measures will be sufficient to control attrition levels. Any significant increase in employee attrition may adversely affect the Company's business operations and financial performance.

60. Listing of equity shares may subject us to surveillance measures like ASM and GSM, affecting market perception.

Subsequent to the listing of the Equity Shares, we may be subject to Additional Surveillance Measures" ASM") and Graded Surveillance Measures ("GSM") by the Stock Exchanges. These measures are in place to enhance the integrity of the market and safeguard the interest of investors. The criteria for shortlisting any security trading on the Stock Exchanges for ASM is based on objective criteria, which includes market-based parameters such as high low-price variation, concentration of client accounts, close to close price variation, market capitalization, average daily trading volume and its change, and average delivery percentage, among others. Securities are subject to GSM when its price is not commensurate with the financial health of the issuer. Specific parameters for GSM include net worth, net fixed assets, price-to-earning ratio, market capitalization and price-to-book value, among others. Factors within and beyond our control may lead to our securities being subject to GSM or ASM. In the event our Equity Shares are subject to such surveillance measures implemented by any of the Stock Exchanges, we may be subject to certain additional restrictions in connection with trading of our Equity Shares such as limiting trading frequency (for example, trading either allowed once in a week or a month) or freezing of price on upper side of trading which may have an adverse effect on the market price of our Equity Shares or may in general cause disruptions in the development of an active trading market for our Equity Shares. The market price of the Equity Shares may be subject to significant fluctuations in response to such disruptions.

61. Dependence on information technology systems exposes us to cybersecurity and operational risks.

We depends on Geo Trackers software or any other IT softwares for managing its operations, including vehicle tracking, billing, accounts, and communication. Any failure or interruption in these systems, or any cyberattack, data loss, or unauthorized access, could disrupt operations, delay services, or result in loss of important information.

Since the Company relies on third-party software and internet-based platforms for certain functions, it may also face risks related to system errors, hardware failure, or data security breaches beyond its control. Such incidents could affect day-to-day business activities and have an adverse impact on operations and reputation.

To mitigate these risks, the Company regularly updates and maintains its IT systems, uses licensed software, and restricts access to sensitive information. Data backups are maintained periodically to avoid loss of information in case of system failure. The Company also follows password protection practices and engages with external service providers for maintenance and security support. These measures help reduce the possibility of IT disruptions and data breaches, although complete protection against cybersecurity risks cannot be guaranteed.

While these measures reduce the likelihood of such risks, complete protection against cybersecurity threats or technical failures cannot be assured.

62. The Issue Price, valuation multiples and related financial ratios may not be indicative of the market price of our Equity Shares upon listing or thereafter.

The Offer Price of our Equity Shares has been determined in consultation with the Book Running Lead Manager based on various qualitative and quantitative factors. The Issue Price, as well as the market capitalization-to-revenue from operations multiple and price-to-earnings ratio derived from it, should not be considered as indicative of the market price of our Equity Shares after listing. The market price of our Equity Shares may fluctuate and could decline below the Issue Price due to a number of factors, including variations in our operating performance, market conditions, investor sentiment, or other developments affecting our industry or the securities markets in general. There can be no assurance that an active trading market will develop for our Equity Shares or that the market price will not fall below the Issue Price.

Rationale for the Object

A. Rationale for Increasing Owned Fleet and Reduction of Dependence on Hired Vehicles

The Company has a fleet of 424 owned vehicles as on March 31, 2026. Over the past years, our dependence on hired vehicles has increased, which has resulted in higher operating costs and reduced margins. Accordingly, the Company intends to gradually replace hired vehicles with additional owned vehicles.

(Rs. in lakhs)

	Amount	%*	Amount	%*	Amount	%*

Revenue from Hired Vehicles	5,363.17	32.37	4,992.06	33.56	2,782.58	22.49
Revenue from Operations	16,570.10	100.00	14,877.10	100.00	12,375.26	100.00

% of Revenue from Operations.*

Notes:

1. The data mentioned above are derived from Restated Consolidated Financials.
2. The total number of hired vehicles cannot be determined, as such number varies during the year depending on operational requirements. The revenue bifurcation between owned and hired vehicles has been determined based on an internal assessment. Accordingly, the said bifurcation represents a reasonable approximation. The Company's revenue dependency in this regard has been duly disclosed above.

As on March 31, 2026, 67.63% of our revenue is generated from the owned fleet of 424 vehicles, while the remaining approx. 32.37% of the revenue is dependent on hired vehicles. This continued reliance on outsourced vehicles affects operational efficiency as

(iv) hire charges are higher than the cost of operating owned vehicles,
(v) availability of hired vehicles fluctuates, and
(vi) the Company has limited control over maintenance standards, driver quality, and turnaround time.

To achieve higher fleet reliability and improve margins, the Company aims to generate a larger proportion of revenue from its own vehicles. Based on our current revenue mix, we estimate that approximately a minimum 130-150 additional vehicles would be required to reduce/eliminate dependency on hired vehicles.

As part of this long-term plan, the Company proposes to utilise a portion of the IPO proceeds to purchase 92 new trucks. The acquisition of these vehicles will help us:

- Reduce hire charges and improve EBITDA margins;
- Enhance operational control, vehicle availability, and service quality;
- Strengthen our capacity to cater to future demand without relying on external fleet providers.

The proposed purchase of 92 trucks is therefore aligned with our strategy to shift towards a predominantly owned fleet and improve cost efficiency.

B. Practical Usable Life of Vehicles and Need for Replacement

The Company is engaged in logistics operations across multiple states, where commercial vehicle registrations are valid for 8–15 years depending on the state and fuel type. However, the practical usable life of vehicles is significantly shorter. As vehicles age, their fuel efficiency drops, maintenance costs rise, and the risk of mechanical failure increases. Additionally, major customers specifically require vehicles age shall not be older than 8 years at all times, and contracts explicitly mandate this.

Due to these operational constraints and market requirements, a vehicle remains economically and contractually viable for only about 8–10 years, irrespective of its statutory registration validity. Based on this realistic lifecycle assessment, 49 vehicles in our fleet are expected to reach the end of their practical usable life ("expiry") within the next one year. The company intends to replace these vehicles to ensure uninterrupted service delivery and compliance with customer requirements.

C. Reduction of Leverage and Strengthening of Financial Position

Furthermore, as on March 31, 2026, our debt-equity ratio stands at 0.93:1. The total borrowings including vehicle loans constitute Rs. 3,921.36 lakhs (comprising Rs. 2,628.78 lakhs long-term and Rs. 1,292.58 lakhs short-term borrowings). The corresponding EMI obligations result in a significant fixed outflow, which adversely impacts our profit margins and limits our ability to deploy funds towards operational needs.

In order to strengthen our balance sheet, reduce finance costs, and improve our debt-equity ratio, the Company intends to reduce dependence on debt funding and increase the proportion of owned funds. Deployment of IPO proceeds towards the purchase of new vehicles will allow us to acquire assets without additional borrowing. This will:

- Reduce leverage and finance cost
- Improve liquidity and cash flows, and
- Contributing positively to long term profitability and financial stability

Accordingly, utilisation of IPO proceeds towards vehicle acquisition forms an integral part of the Company's strategy to strengthen its capital structure and improve its debt-equity position.

D. Customer preference for owned fleet

The Company's major customers increasingly prefer deployment of Company-owned vehicles over vendor-operated i.e hired vehicles. Customers have indicated that hired vehicles often do not meet their operational standards in terms of vehicle condition, reliability, timely reporting, and adherence to prescribed operational guidelines. Instances of disruptions caused by third-party vehicles such as delays, inconsistent performance, and inadequate maintenance have been specifically highlighted by certain customers.

In several communications, customers have requested the Company to replace vendor-operated vehicles with its owned fleet to ensure greater stability, service quality, and operational efficiency. Customers have also indicated that, considering their future production and volume requirements, they expect the Company to deploy additional owned vehicles to support their growing operational needs.

In view of these expectations, the Company is required to maintain a larger proportion of owned vehicles and reduce reliance on hired vehicles to continue meeting customer-specific quality standards and retain business relationships.

Hence, the Company intends to purchase new vehicles to provide good and timely services in order to maintain long-term relations with the customers.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

(Percent, quarter over quarter, annualized)

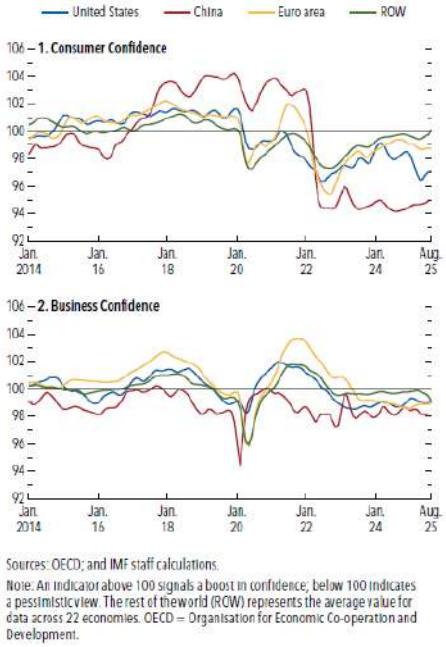

Source: IMF staff calculations.
Note: Figures are calculated using seasonally adjusted series. Residuals are included in the investment contribution.

The global economy has shown resilience to the trade policy shocks, including because these shocks materialized on a smaller scale than expected at their onset, but the drag from shifting policies is becoming visible in more recent data. There have been several common drivers of growth patterns across countries but also some important idiosyncratic factors. The last round of tariffs came in as the US economy started to show signs of a material slowdown. GDP grew at an annualized 3.8 percent in the second quarter of 2025, but mainly because imports and inventories fully reversed the outturn observed in the first quarter, which had seen a contraction of –0.6 percent. Investment slowed, with a reduction in spending on commercial and residential construction and broader weakness masked by a surge in spending on equipment and intellectual property, including those related to AI. The jobs reports since July were much weaker than expected, with significant decline in the number of jobs added. The unemployment rate edged up to 4.3 percent in August. Signs of slowing activity and a weakening labor market appeared in the context of ongoing shifts in labor supply. Net international migration flows plunged in the first half of 2025 and, if the current trends continue, it could imply about 1.0–1.6 million fewer immigrants than in 2024 and 2.5 million fewer than in 2023 (Duzhak and New- Schmidt 2025).

Other major economies are showing signs of waning of the front-loading that drove stronger-than-expected outcomes in the first quarter of 2025. Growth in China in the second quarter slowed to 4.2 percent from 6.1 percent in the first quarter (based on staff seasonally adjusted estimates), with the contribution of net exports receding. This partly offset the acceleration in domestic demand, possibly driven by policy stimulus stimulus. High-frequency indicators point to a deceleration in economic activity in July and August. In the euro area, GDP growth slowed to 0.5 percent, from 2.3 percent in the first quarter. Declines in growth rates were recorded in Germany and Italy, as well as in Ireland, which had disproportionately contributed to euro area growth in the first quarter, with export performance driven by pharmaceutical sector transactions, partly as a result of front-loading. In Japan, the economy grew at an annualized rate of 2.2 percent in the second quarter, accelerating from 0.3 percent in the first quarter. In addition to solid capital spending, this was propelled by strong exports, especially of cars. However, new export orders fell in July, for the first time since December, and export values dropped, led by sectors most affected by tariffs.

(Index, OECD harmonized)

The composition of contributions to GDP growth in major economies indicates few signs of underlying strength in demand. It clearly illustrates the distortions in trade flows in the past few quarters (Figure 1.3). Importantly, consumption growth has been subdued in all key jurisdictions. And investment has weakened, notwithstanding bursts of activity before the tariff news in April. This is broadly in line with depressed consumer and business confidence (Figure 1.4).

Beyond China, emerging market and developing economies more broadly showed strength, sometimes because of particular domestic reasons, but recent signals point to a fragile outlook there as well. Growth for the group of emerging market economies excluding China was stronger than expected in the first half of 2025, thanks in part to record agricultural output in Brazil, robust service sector expansion in India, and resilient domestic demand in Türkiye. The stronger-than-expected economic performance adds to a more general trend of resilience in emerging markets, which originates in improvements in domestic institutions and favorable external conditions. However, external conditions are becoming more challenging, and in some cases, domestic momentum is slowing. For instance, in Brazil, signs of moderation are appearing amid tight monetary and fiscal policies. Higher tariffs imposed by the United States are curtailing external demand, with profound implications for several large export-oriented economies, while heightened trade policy uncertainty is dampening firms' appetite for investment. At the same time, constrained fiscal space is reducing governments' ability to stimulate domestic demand where needed. Among the group of low-income countries, some of the world's poorest economies continue to see feeble or regional conflicts, are falling even more behind (Chabert and Powell 2025).

Global Growth Forecast

Global growth is projected to decelerate from 3.3 percent in 2024 to 3.2 percent in 2025 and to 3.1 percent in 2026. On a fourth-quarter to-fourth-quarter basis, growth is projected to decline from 3.6 percent in 2024 to 2.6 percent in 2025 and recover to 3.3 percent in 2026. At market exchange rates, world output is projected to grow by 2.6 percent in both 2025 and 2026, slowing down from 2.8 percent in 2024. The growth forecast is little changed from the July 2025 WEO Update, reflecting gradual adaptation to trade tensions, but is decisively below the pre pandemic average of 3.7 percent. Looking at sequential growth from the second half of 2025 into 2026 gives a clearer picture by removing the distortion from front-loading in the first half of 2025: The global economy is projected to grow at an annualized average rate of 3.0 percent over these six quarters, a slowdown of 0.6 percentage point from the 3.6 percent average rate in 2024. The forecast for 2025–26 is also lower, by a cumulative 0.2 percentage point, than projected in the October 2024 WEO, before the major shifts in policy stances in key jurisdictions.

Growth Forecast for Advanced Economies

For advanced economies, growth is projected to be 1.6 percent in 2025 and 2026, both 0.2 percentage point lower than recorded in 2024 and projected in the October 2024 WEO.

- In the United States, growth is projected to slow to 2.0 percent in 2025 and remain steady at 2.1 percent in 2026, broadly the same as in July and an improvement relative to April on account of lower effective tariff rates, a fiscal boost from the passage of the OBBBA, and easing financial conditions. This projection marks a significant slowdown from 2024 as well as a cumulative downward revision of 0.1 percentage point relative to the October 2024 WEO and 0.7 percentage point relative to the January 2025 WEO Update. The downward revision is mainly a result of greater policy uncertainty, higher trade barriers, and lower growth in both the labor force and employment.

- Growth in the euro area is expected to pick up modestly to 1.2 percent in 2025 and to 1.1 percent in 2026. While an improvement relative to April and July, this is a cumulative downward revision of 0.4 percentage point compared with the October 2024 WEO. Elevated uncertainty on multiple fronts and higher tariffs are the main drivers. Recovering private consumption from higher real wages and fiscal easing in Germany in 2026 provide only a partial offset, whereas strong performance in Ireland lifts growth in 2025. The euro area economy is expected to grow at potential in 2026.

- Forecasts for other advanced economies also mark significant downward revisions compared with those in the October 2024 WEO, largely a reflection of the shifting international trade landscape. In Canada, the growth forecast for 2025 is 1.2 percent, and for 2026 it is 1.5 percent—cumulatively 1.7 percentage points below the October 2024 projection. In Japan, growth is expected to accelerate from 0.1 percent in 2024 to 1.1 percent in 2025 and moderate to 0.6 percent in 2026. These dynamics are driven by an expected pickup in real wage growth supporting private consumption, despite headwinds from elevated trade policy uncertainty and softening external demand. This constitutes a cumulative downward revision of 0.2 percentage point relative to October 2024. In the United Kingdom, growth in 2025 and 2026 is expected to be 1.3 percent, revised, on a cumulative basis, slightly upward relative to April. While this reflects strong activity in the first half of 2025 and an improvement in the external environment, including through the UK-US trade deal announced in May, the projected growth in 2025–26 is still lower by a cumulative 0.4 percentage point compared with the forecast in October 2024.

Growth Forecast for Emerging Market and Developing Economies

For emerging market and developing economies, growth is projected to moderate from 4.3 percent in 2024 to 4.2 percent in 2025 and 4.0 percent in 2026. This is virtually unchanged from the July WEO Update and is a cumulative upward revision of 0.6 percentage point from the April 2025 WEO. That said, it is lower than the forecast in October 2024 by a cumulative 0.2 percentage point, with low-income developing countries experiencing a larger downward revision than middle-income economies.

- Growth in emerging and developing Asia is expected to decline from 5.3 percent in 2024 to 5.2 percent in 2025 and further to 4.7 percent in 2026. For quite a few countries in the region—particularly in ASEAN, among the most affected—the evolution of growth forecasts largely mimicked that of effective tariff rates. In China, the 2025 GDP growth forecast was revised downward by 0.6 percentage point in the April 2025 WEO, with the escalation of trade tensions between China and the United States, and then upward by 0.8 percentage point in the July WEO Update, following the pause on higher rates in May. Compared with the October 2024 WEO projection, growth, at 4.8 percent, is expected to be 0.3 percentage point higher. Growth is expected to moderate in 2026 to 4.2 percent. A stronger-than-expected outturn in the past few quarters, reflecting front-loading in international trade and relatively robust domestic consumption supported by fiscal expansion in 2025, more than offset the headwinds from higher uncertainty and tariffs. In India, growth is projected to be 6.6 percent in 2025 and 6.2 percent in 2026. Compared with the July WEO Update, this is an upward revision for 2025, with carryover from a strong first quarter more than offsetting the increase in the US effective tariff rate on imports from India since July, and a downward revision for 2026. Compared with the pre-tariff forecast in October 2024, growth is projected to be cumulatively 0.2 percentage point lower.

- In Latin America and the Caribbean, growth is projected to remain stable at 2.4 percent in 2025 and fall slightly to 2.3 percent in 2026. The forecast for 2025 is revised upward by 0.4 percentage point relative to April on account of lower tariff rates for most countries in the region and stronger-than-expected incoming data. The revision is driven largely by Mexico, which is expected to grow at 1.0 percent in 2025, 1.3 percentage points higher than forecast in the April 2025 WEO. For Brazil, the projection for 2025 is revised upward, but that for 2026 is revised downward, in part because of the higher tariff rate on the country's exports to the United States. For the region as a whole, a forecast for this year and next that is cumulatively 0.5 percentage point lower than forecast in the October 2024 WEO reflects trade policy changes and uncertainty.

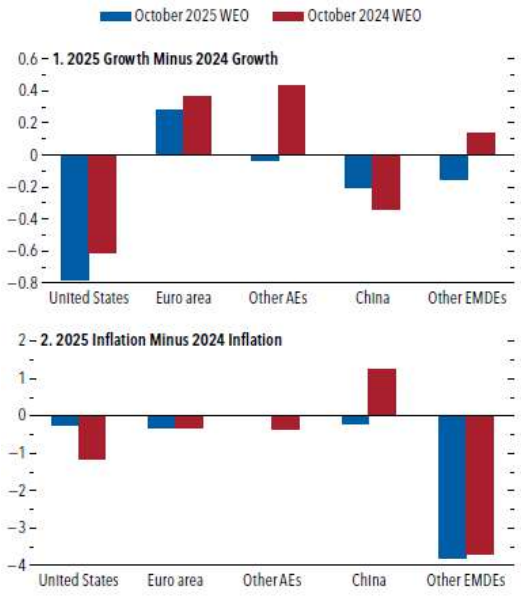

- Growth in the Middle East and Central Asia is projected to accelerate, from 2.6 percent in 2024 to 3.5 percent in 2025 and to 3.8 percent in 2026, as the effects of disruptions to oil production and shipping dissipate and the impacts of ongoing conflicts abate. Compared with April, the projection for 2025 is revised upward by 0.5 percentage point. This largely reflects developments in Gulf Cooperation Council countries, in particular Saudi Arabia, where the unwinding of oil production cuts was faster than expected, and Egypt, where the outturn in the first half of 2025 was better than expected. Despite the region's relatively smaller exposure to the new US tariff regime, compared with the October 2024 WEO, its growth projection is cumulatively 0.8 percentage points lower for 2025 and 2026, as a result of the indirect effects of subdued world demand on commodity prices.

Inflation Forecast

Under the baseline, global headline inflation is projected to decline to 4.2 percent in 2025 and to 3.7 percent in 2026. This path is virtually the same as depicted in the previous projections, but there is variation across countries and regions.

Inflation forecasts are revised upward in quite a few economies, relative to the October 2024 WEO, which serves as a pre-policy-shift benchmark. Among advanced economies, the most notable cases are the United Kingdom and the United States. In the United Kingdom, headline inflation, which started picking up in 2024, is expected to continue rising in 2025 partly because of changes in regulated prices. This is projected to be temporary, with a loosening labor market and moderating wage growth eventually helping inflation return to target at the end of 2026. In the United States, inflation is expected to pick up beginning in the second half of 2025, as the impact of tariffs is no longer absorbed within supply chains and instead passed on to consumers. Inflation then is expected to return to the Federal Reserve's 2 percent target during 2027. This forecast assumes only modest second-round effects, implying potential upside risks to US inflation in the baseline amid downside risks to employment. Among emerging market and developing economies, inflation forecasts for Brazil and Mexico are revised upward. For Brazil, the revision is more pronounced and in part reflects the stabilization of inflation expectations above target rates, reflecting credibility challenges associated with fiscal policy uncertainties last year, although relief from more recent currency appreciation is expected to arrive in late 2025 and in 2026. For Mexico, volatile categories such as food and more-persistent-than expected services inflation contribute to the upward revision.

(Percentage points)

Note: AEs = advanced economies; EMDEs = emerging market and developing economies; WEO = World Economic Outlook.

For several other economies, inflation forecasts are revised downward, compared with the October 2024 WEO. In much of emerging and developing Asia, that is the case. This is largely a reflection of lower-than-expected outturns, with food, energy, and administrative prices playing a significant role (for example, in China, India, and Thailand). Taken together with the GDP growth forecasts, the picture varies across countries. US growth in 2025, forecast at 2.0 percent, is lower than the 2.2 percent projected in the October 2024 WEO. Inflation in 2025, forecast at 2.7 percent, is higher than the 1.9 percent projected in the October 2024 WEO. Relative to forecasts prior to the policy shifts, the US economy is expected to slow more sharply in 2025 than was projected a year ago (Figure 1.11). Meanwhile, inflation is expected to remain largely unchanged and elevated, compared with the notable decline projected in October 2024.

Meanwhile, inflation is expected to remain largely unchanged and elevated, compared with the notable decline projected in October 2024. This combination of a sharper growth slowdown and a slower pace in disinflation in the United States contrasts with the less sharp growth slowdown and muted inflation in China. Elsewhere, in most cases, a pickup in growth is no longer expected or is projected to be much weaker, while inflation is still expected to decline at about the same pace as before. This is broadly in line with what would be anticipated from the introduction of higher US tariffs, with small deviations in the inflation outlook attributable to idiosyncratic offsetting factors.

INDIAN ECONOMY OUTLOOK

India is projected to sustain potential real Gross Domestic Product (GDP) growth of 6.5% YoY between FY28-30, positioning it as the world's third-largest consumer market by 2026 and the third-largest economy by 2028, behind the United States (US) and China, according to UBS. The report said India's household consumption has nearly doubled in the past decade to Rs. 2,12,83,200 crore (US$ 2.4 trillion) in 2024, expanding at a 7.9% Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) faster than China, the US, or Germany. Strong domestic demand, policy stability, and manufacturing reforms are expected to keep India's growth momentum intact, making it the fastest-growing economy in the Asia-Pacific region in 2027, ahead of the Philippines (6.1%) and Indonesia (5.1%). UBS forecasts India's GDP growth at 6.4% in FY27 and 6.5% in FY28, supported by fiscal prudence, GST reforms, and resilient private consumption.

UBS's base case assumes that the US-India trade deal materialises, and tariffs are normalised by end-2025. Persisting trade penalties or a 25% tax on US payments to Indian outsourcing firms could trim GDP growth by up to 90 basis points in FY27.

UBS expects inflation to rise modestly from 2.4% in FY26 to 4.3% in FY27, below the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) 4.5% forecast, and anticipates one more 25-basis-point rate cut before a pause.

India has consistently demonstrated robust economic growth, emerging as one of the fastest-growing major economies globally. India is now the world's fourth-largest economy and is projected to become the third largest by 2030 with a GDP of US$ 7.3 trillion. This transformation stems from a decade of focused governance, structural reforms, and strengthened global positioning. Backed by strong domestic demand, favourable demographics, and sustained policy reforms, India continues to enhance its global footprint in trade, investment, and innovation. Over the past decade, India's GDP at current prices has surged from US$ 1.23 trillion in FY15 to an estimated US$ 3.82 trillion in FY25, tripling in just ten years. India's nominal GDP grew by 9.8% and real GDP by 6.5% in FY25, reflecting strong domestic demand, investment, and resilient consumer spending. In Q1 of FY26, real GDP surged by 7.8%, achieving the fastest pace in five quarters, beating RBI estimate of 6.5%. This growth was primarily driven by services, manufacturing, and government capital expenditure. Looking ahead to FY26, real GDP growth is projected to range between 6.4% and 6.7%, indicating sustained economic momentum. This trajectory is underpinned by macroeconomic stability, a resilient external sector, narrowing fiscal deficit, easing inflation, and high consumption expenditure. Additionally, improving employment prospects and the government's focus on long-term structural reforms are expected to play a key role in sustaining growth.

Moreover, export performance has experienced remarkable growth over the past decade, reflecting the increasing credibility and demand for Indian products in the global marketplace. India's total exports have shown remarkable growth over the past decade, rising from US$ 468 billion in FY14 to US$ 825 billion in FY25, marking a substantial increase of approximately 76%. Additionally, India's share of world merchandise exports also improved, rising from 1.66% to 1.81%, advancing the country from 20th to 17th position globally. The demographic transition, marked by a lower infant mortality rate and a consistent growth in literacy rates, further enhances India's advantageous position. With improved income distribution, heightened employment rates, and globally competitive social amenity provisions, there is potential for India's per capita GDP to expand in the next 25 years, mirroring the growth seen in the preceding 75 years.

In the Union Budget 2025-26, the government proposed to increase allocation for capital expenditure to Rs. 11.21 lakh crore (US$ 129.0 billion), up 10.1% from revised budget estimate of Rs. 10.18 lakh crore (US$ 117.2 billion) in FY25.

LOGISCTICS INDUSTRY

The logistics market is growing significantly. With the increase in online shopping, the need to safely and quickly deliver goods to the consumer has risen. Omni channel retailing has created layers of complexity for the e-commerce world, where customers now have a range of options. These include buy online, pick up in store (BOPIS), paying for an item at a physical store and having it shipped home, choosing a convenient delivery slot, and changing the delivery location, among others. These options create a complex landscape, demanding close cooperation between inventory management, warehousing, and order fulfilment to work well.

Logistics companies are struggling with challenges such as rising transportation costs, labor shortages, supply chain disruptions, high delivery expectations, and efficient inventory management. Supply chain, logistics, and transportation companies are the largest users of logistics IT solutions, and making the best use of advanced logistics solutions and better workforce management could help them solve some of these problems.

GLOBAL LOGISCTICS INDUSTRY

The global logistics market size is predicted to touch $8.1 trillion by 2030, growing at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of almost 5% between 2025 and 2030. This growth can be attributed to factors such as expanding commerce, globalization of trade, increasing demand for faster delivery, and the use of AI technology.

The value of the e-commerce logistics market is expected to go above $535 billion this year. Rising fuel prices and a persistent shortage of drivers worldwide are driving up costs. The substantial impact of autonomous trucks on operational costs could help grow the market to approximately $600 billion by 2035. Meanwhile, other modes of transport are seeing growth: There is growing demand for waterway transportation, owing to its cost efficiency and higher cargo capacity. It was the fastest-growing segment last year. The global water transport market is projected to reach $983 billion by 2032, growing at a CAGR of 6.2% between 2024 and 2032. Similarly, growing demand for efficient freight solutions and increasing emphasis on sustainable practices are also boosting the rail logistics market, which is set to grow at a CAGR of 4.1%, reaching almost $507 billion by 2034 from $355 billion in 2025.

The shifting geopolitical landscape has been testing the logistics industry, with uncertainty over fast-moving US government-imposed tariffs posing particular concern. As a result of this uncertainty, global container volumes have dipped. Orders for consumer goods, industrial products and furniture manufactured in factories in China and imported by global retailers to the US have collapsed. Based on the percentage of tariffs applicable to them and the locations they operate in, brands will look at taking a step back from their usual logistics operations to explore new ways to reduce the impact of tariffs. Logistics companies will have to find a way to adapt to the challenges surrounding them, be it rising operational costs, tariff regulations, or competition from peers. There's a need for them to be agile and build more resilient supply chains to meet constantly changing needs and demands of their environment and to mitigate the risks caused by them.

The global cold chain logistics market was valued at USD 293.58 billion in 2023 and is projected to grow from USD 324.85 billion in 2024 to USD 862.33 billion by 2032, exhibiting a CAGR of 13% during the forecast period. North America dominated the global market with a share of 33.28% in 2023.

The cold chain logistics market encompasses the transportation and storage of temperature-sensitive products, including perishable food items, pharmaceuticals, and chemicals, under controlled conditions to maintain their integrity and quality. With increasing globalization and demand for fresh and frozen products worldwide, the cold chain logistics industry is experiencing significant growth. Factors, such as advancements in refrigeration technology, stringent regulatory requirements, and the expansion of the pharmaceutical and healthcare sectors are driving market expansion.

Additionally, the rise of e-commerce and online grocery delivery services is further fueling demand for efficient cold chain logistics solutions. Overall, the market is characterized by innovation, stringent quality standards, and a focus on ensuring product safety and integrity throughout the supply chain.

The COVID-19 pandemic had a profound impact on the cold chain logistics market. With the global distribution of vaccines and pharmaceuticals, the demand for temperature-controlled storage and transportation surged. Additionally, disruptions in supply chains and logistics networks posed challenges, highlighting the importance of robust cold chain infrastructure. The pandemic accelerated digitalization and adoption of innovative technologies in cold chain logistics to ensure the safe and efficient distribution of temperature-sensitive goods amidst unprecedented challenges.

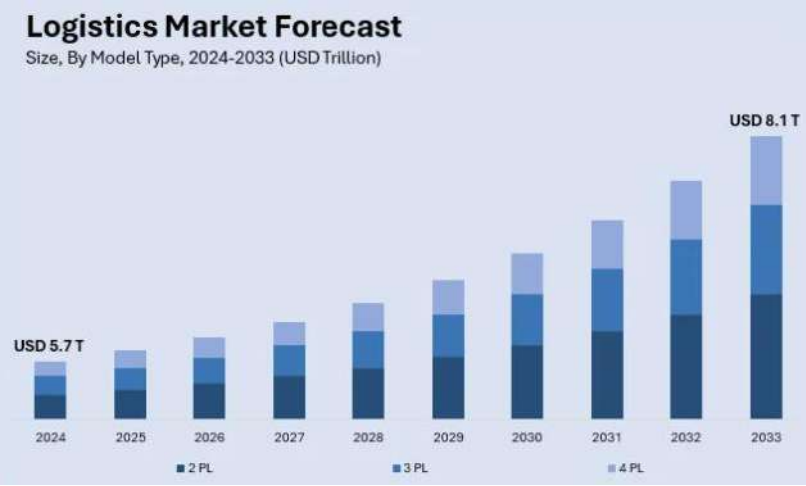

The increasing trend of buying perishable goods through the online platform has led to new opportunities and challenges. These include the requirement for automated warehouses to manage inventories, and innovative solutions to offer last-mile delivery. That also creates demand for advanced temperature monitoring devices to maintain quality and prolong the shelf life of perishable food products. Consumers are nowadays more conscious about wellness and health, and the effect that food nutrients, particularly protein, have on overall mental and physical development. This has caused a change in the consumption pattern of perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables, dairy products, meat, eggs, fish, and seafood.

Based on type, the market is segmented into refrigerated warehouses and refrigerated transportation. The refrigerated warehouse segment holds the major share in the market and is expected to retain its dominance in the coming years due to the growing preference for packaged food products across the world. Changing the dietary patterns and lifestyles of consumers is propelling the demand for frozen food products. This is anticipated to boost the demand for refrigerated warehouses. Furthermore, the refrigerated transportation segment is projected to grow at the fastest CAGR over the forecast period due to the increasing use of safe refrigerated transportation of temperature-sensitive goods and products. Transportation modes used are refrigerated cargo, refrigerated railcars, refrigerated trucks, and air cargo.

The global logistics market size was valued at USD 5.65 Trillion in 2025. Looking forward, the industry is projected to reach USD 8.07 Trillion by 2034, exhibiting a CAGR of 4.02% during 2026-2034. The market growth is attributed to the rise in online shopping, the increasing demand for faster delivery services, advancements in technologies like IoT and AI, a stronger push for eco-friendly transport, and improvements in logistics infrastructure such as roads, ports, and warehouses.

- Asia Pacific emerged as the leading region in 2024, accounting for over 48.7% of the market share.
- By model type, the 3PL (Third-Party Logistics) segment leads the market, with a share of 56.3%, driven by the demand for cost-effective and flexible logistics solutions.
- By transportation mode, roadways dominate the market, contributing 59.2% of the share due to their flexibility, low cost, and extensive network.
- By end use, the manufacturing sector holds 16.8% of the market share, driven by the need for effective supply chains and inventory management

INDIAN LOGISCTICS MARKET

India's express logistics industry has emerged as a critical enabler of economic growth, digital commerce, and employment generation. Valued at approximately USD9 billion in FY25, the sector has witnessed a robust CAGR of 12–15 per cent since FY17, driven by the exponential rise in e-commerce, MSME exports, and digital transformation. The express logistics market in India spans a wide range of services including cargo handling, multi-modal transportation, warehousing, last-mile delivery, and customs clearance, making it a vital component of the country's supply chain ecosystem. The sector is a significant contributor to public revenue, with an estimated USD1–1.5 billion in GST collections and USD650 million in customs duties in FY24. It also supports 2.8–3 million jobs, both directly and indirectly, across urban and rural India. The domestic express segment, accounting for nearly 70 per cent of the market, is valued at USD6.3–6.5 billion, largely driven by the surface express mode. Government initiatives like Bharatmala Pariyojna, GST, E-way Bill, and FASTag have played a pivotal role in enhancing road logistics efficiency and inter-state transport.

The international express logistics market, comprising around 30 per cent of the total, is expanding rapidly due to the rise in cross-border e-commerce, MSME digitisation, and manufacturing exports. With improved payment systems, customs reforms, and trade facilitation policies, international shipments have become more reliable and scalable. Post-pandemic shifts in consumer behavior, coupled with smartphone penetration and Tier II/III city growth, have transformed the express logistics landscape. The B2C and C2C segments now represent 55 per cent of the market, overtaking the traditionally dominant B2B segment. The rise of quick commerce, hyperlocal delivery, and direct-to-consumer (D2C) brands has further accelerated demand for faster delivery timelines, prompting logistics providers to invest in technology, automation, and urban infrastructure.

India's retail e-commerce market, valued at USD 1,000 billion in FY25, has seen its online share grow from 3 per centin FY19 to 7 per cent in FY25, with shipments increasing from 1.1 billion to 5 billion. Despite this growth, per capita B2C e-commerce spending in India remains low at USD50, indicating significant future potential. The express logistics segment contributes to nearly 60 per cent of the B2C logistics market, valued at USD4–4.5 billion. The industry is undergoing a strategic transformation, marked by four key trends: consolidation, agile business models, digital innovation, and sustainability. Backed by progressive policies like the National Logistics Policy, PM Gati Shakti Master Plan, and E-commerce Policy, the sector is poised for long-term growth. However, challenges such as infrastructure gaps, customs bottlenecks, and urban freight integration remain. Looking ahead, the express logistics industry in India is projected to grow to USD18–22 billion by FY30, creating 6.5–7.5 million jobs. To sustain this momentum, stakeholders must focus on five pillars: agility, efficiency, customer centricity, sustainability, and a robust regulatory framework. With continued policy support and innovation, India's express logistics sector is well-positioned to become a global leader and a key driver of the country's Amrit Kaal aspirations.

The FMCG sector in India has expanded steadily, supported by consumer-driven growth and higher product prices, particularly for essential goods. It provides employment to around three million people, accounting for approximately 5% of total factory employment in the country. As India's fourth-largest sector, FMCG plays a vital role in the economy, with household and personal care products alone contributing 50% of total FMCG sales. Looking ahead, India's FMCG sector is expected to record a slight revenue increase of 100 to 200 basis points, bringing growth to 6 to 8% in FY26, supported by stable rural demand and a revival in urban markets. The urban segment currently contributes about 62% of total revenue, but rural India has emerged as a stronger growth driver in recent years. Semi-urban and rural regions now account for 50% of total rural spending on FMCG, with rising incomes and evolving consumer preferences narrowing the urban–rural gap.

The India logistics market size was valued at USD 228.4 Billion in 2024 and is projected to reach USD 428.7 Billion by 2033. The market in India is estimated to grow at a CAGR of 6.50% from 2025-2033. The market growth is attributed to the growing e-commerce, infrastructure development, rising demand for cold chain logistics, increasing international trade, adoption of digital technologies, expansion of manufacturing and retail sectors, improved warehousing solutions, and greater focus on supply chain efficiency.

The growing demand for perishable goods, ranging from dairy products to vaccines and biologics is propelling the growth of the Indian cold chain logistics sector. According to a Mordor Intelligence report, the Indian cold chain transportation market is expected to grow from $12.77 billion in 2025 to $20.31 billion by 2030 at a CAGR of 9.72% between the forecast years. This growth trajectory is fueled by evolving consumer preferences, rapid urbanization, and a sharp rise in organized retail and e-commerce for temperature-sensitive goods.

India continues to rank among the top global producers of perishable commodities. It is the largest producer of milk, second-largest producer of fruits and vegetables, and a leading manufacturer of generic pharmaceuticals. Recent government initiatives such as the PM Gati Shakti scheme and PLI schemes in multimodal logistics are rapidly transforming the cold chain ecosystem. Despite its immense potential, India's cold chain logistics sector witnesses over 30-40% of perishable produce wasted annually due to inadequate temperature control and poor last-mile delivery connectivity. That being said, the need for robust infrastructure and smarter in-plant logistics management has never been more urgent. Let's examine key challenges confronting cold chain logistics in India and explore strategic solutions to overcome them.

What are the Problems with Cold Chain Logistics in India?

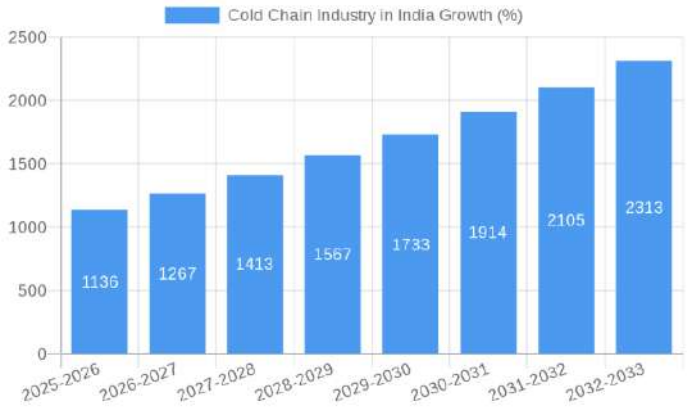

India has its own set of challenges when it comes to cold chain logistics. The major contributing factors are because of the difficult geographical topology, unawareness of technological advancements, and extreme climatic conditions.

Source: https://www.binarysemantics.com/blogs/cold-transportation-challenges-in-indias-cold-chain-logistics/#:~:text=According%20to%20a%20Mordor%20Intelligence,9.72%25%20between%20the%20forecast%20years.

The Indian cold chain industry, valued at $11.64 billion in 2025, is experiencing robust growth, projected to expand at a Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 9.72% from 2025 to 2033. This growth is fueled by several key factors. The burgeoning Indian e-commerce sector and its increasing reliance on temperature-sensitive products, like pharmaceuticals and perishable food items, is a significant driver. Furthermore, rising disposable incomes, changing consumer preferences towards convenience and higher quality food, and government initiatives aimed at improving cold chain infrastructure are all contributing to market expansion. Growth is particularly strong in segments like refrigerated transportation and value-added services, reflecting the need for efficient and integrated logistics solutions across the supply chain. While challenges remain, such as the need for further investment in infrastructure, particularly in rural areas, and inconsistent regulatory frameworks, the overall outlook for the Indian cold chain industry remains highly positive.

The industry segmentation reveals the dominance of specific application areas. Horticulture (fresh fruits and vegetables) and dairy products (milk, ice cream, butter) are major segments, reflecting the country's substantial agricultural output and growing consumer demand for these products. The pharmaceutical and life sciences sectors are also significant contributors, highlighting the crucial role of cold chain logistics in ensuring the integrity of temperature-sensitive medications and biologics. The geographical distribution of the market mirrors India's diverse economic landscape, with significant growth anticipated in urban centers and developing regions, driven by increased consumption and improved infrastructure development.

The Indian cold chain market is witnessing robust growth, driven by rising disposable incomes, changing consumption patterns, and the expansion of organized retail. The increasing demand for perishable goods like fresh produce, dairy, meat, and seafood is a key driver. Furthermore, the pharmaceutical and life sciences sector's growth significantly contributes to the cold chain's expansion. Government initiatives aimed at improving infrastructure and promoting food processing are also stimulating market growth. The adoption of advanced technologies, such as IoT and blockchain, is improving supply chain visibility and efficiency. However, challenges remain, including high infrastructure costs, lack of skilled manpower, and unreliable power supply. The market is also evolving towards integrated logistics solutions, offering a holistic approach to cold chain management, encompassing storage, transportation, and value-added services. This trend is fueled by the need for end-to-end solutions and increased efficiency. The focus is shifting towards sustainable and environmentally friendly cold chain practices, reflecting growing awareness of the sector's environmental footprint. Lastly, the expansion of e-commerce and the growing demand for faster delivery times are further driving innovation and investment in the cold chain sector.

OUR COMPETITIVE STRENGTHS

a. Owned Refrigerated Vehicle Fleet

We own and operate a fleet of more than 424 GPS-enabled refrigerated vehicles, which supports direct operational oversight of transportation activities. The fleet includes both single-compartment and multi-compartment reefers, with load capacities ranging from approximately 5 tonnes to 20 tonnes, and is equipped to maintain temperatures suitable for frozen (−18°C to −10°C) and chilled (0°C to +4°C) storage. This allows us to handle a range of perishable goods, including pharmaceuticals, dairy products, confectionery, quick-service restaurant supplies, and e-commerce consignments, on a trip-to-trip basis.

Fleet ownership reduces reliance on third-party logistics providers and enables internal management of route planning, vehicle scheduling, and shipment tracking through GPS-based systems. These capabilities are intended to support asset utilization and help in maintaining delivery timelines.

Each of our refrigerated vehicles is equipped with insulated doors featuring inner and outer seals, secure locking mechanisms to help maintain internal temperature stability, and grated container floors designed to support return air evaporation and promote uniform air circulation. These functional features are incorporated to support the controlled transportation of temperature-sensitive goods from origin to destination.

As on March 31, 2026 The category-wise classification of our refrigerated vehicles, based on type and capacity, is provided below:

OUR SOURCES OF REVENUE

We recognize revenue from reefer logistics services when it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company and the amount of revenue can be measured reliably. Revenue is recognized in proportion to the stage of completion of the transportation service rendered. Revenue is primarily generated from the provision of transportation services, which includes (i) primary transportation services, where revenue is recognized on a per trip basis based on the distance travelled between the point of origin and destination, generally for inter-city or inter-state movement; (ii) secondary transportation services, where revenue is recognized on a monthly basis for intra-city transportation, either with or without a minimum guaranteed distance travelled; and (iii) dedicated vehicle services, where revenue is recognized based on the use of a vehicle for a specified number of kilometers per month, with additional charges for any distance travelled beyond the agreed limit.

Trip-Based Charges	Revenue is earned on a per-trip basis, depending on factors such as distance travelled, type and volume of goods, required temperature range (e.g., frozen or chilled), and specific service conditions, including urgency or handling complexity.
Monthly Contracts	For customers with recurring requirements, vehicles are deployed on a fixed monthly basis. Charges are based on a predetermined monthly fee, with or without a minimum committed distance. Additional charges apply for usage beyond the agreed threshold.

II. Use of estimates

The preparation of restated consolidated financial statements requires the management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. Although, these estimates are based on the management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in the outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods.

III. Principles of Consolidation

The Restated Consolidated Financial Statements of the Company have been prepared on the following basis:

a) The restated standalone financial statements of the Holding Company and its subsidiary company have been combined on a line-by-line basis by adding together like items of assets, liabilities, income and expenses. b) The excess of cost to the Holding Company of its investments in the subsidiary company over its share of equity of the Subsidiary company at the dates on which the investments in the Subsidiary company are made, is recognized as 'Goodwill' being an asset in the Restated Consolidated Financial statements.
c) Minority Interest in the net assets of consolidated subsidiary is identified and presented in the Restated Consolidated Financial Statements separately from liabilities and equity of the Company's shareholders.

1.	Truckit India Private Limited	India	99.996	99.996	99.996

IV. Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, Plant and Equipment, capital work in progress are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. Cost comprises the purchase price, borrowing costs, if capitalization criteria are met and any cost attributable to bringing the assets to its working condition for its intended use which includes taxes, freight, and installation and allocated incidental expenditure during construction/ acquisition and exclusive of input tax credit (IGST/CGST and SGST) or other tax credit available to the Company.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognized upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Any gain or loss arising on the disposal or retirement of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognized in statement of profit and loss.

Advances paid towards the acquisition of property, plant and equipment outstanding at each reporting date are classified as Capital Advances under Other Non-Current Assets. Assets acquired but not ready for use are classified under Capital Work in Progress and are stated at cost comprising of direct costs and related incidental expenses.

When parts of an item of Property, Plant and Equipment have different useful lives, they are accounted for as separate items (major components) of property, plant and equipment.

V. Depreciation on Property, Plant and Equipment

Depreciation on Property, Plant and Equipment is provided on the written down value method over the useful lives of the assets as prescribed under Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013, except where the useful lives of the assets have been assessed by the management to be different from those prescribed in Schedule II, based on the nature of the assets, technical evaluation and the expected pattern of consumption of the economic benefits embodied in the assets. The management believes that the useful lives so determined represent the actual useful lives of the respective assets.

The depreciable amount of an asset is determined after deducting its estimated residual value. The residual value is generally considered at 5% of the original cost of the asset, unless a different residual value is considered appropriate based on the nature and expected disposal value of the asset.The Company has considered the following useful lives for depreciation of its various classes of Property, Plant and Equipment:

Particulars	Useful life (years)
Plant and Machinery	15
Plant and Machinery – Solar Power Plant	25
Computers	3
Building – RCC Frame Structure	60
Building – Other than RCC Frame Structure	30
Furniture and Fixtures	10
Office Equipment	5
Vehicles	8
Commercial Vehicles – Trucks	6
Plant and Machinery/Add-on Equipment forming an integral part of Commercial Vehicles	6

The Company follows the principles of component accounting as prescribed under Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013. Significant components of an item of Property, Plant and Equipment having a cost that is significant in relation to the total cost of the asset and having a useful life that is materially different from that of the remaining asset are depreciated separately over their respective useful lives. Where the add-on equipment is integral to the commercial vehicle and has the same useful life and pattern of consumption as the vehicle, it is capitalised and depreciated together with the respective vehicle.

Plant and machinery/add-on equipment specifically installed on and forming an integral part of commercial vehicles is capitalised as part of the respective commercial vehicle, where such equipment is integral to the operation and intended use of the vehicle. Since such add-on equipment is expected to be consumed over the same period and in the same pattern as the related commercial vehicle, the cost of such equipment is depreciated together with the related commercial vehicle over the same useful life of 6 years, using the written down value method. Accordingly, depreciation on such add-on equipment is charged at the same rate and on the same basis as the related commercial vehicle.

Depreciation on additions to Property, Plant and Equipment is provided on a pro-rata basis from the date the respective asset is ready for its intended use. Depreciation on Property, Plant and Equipment sold, disposed of or discarded during the year is provided up to the date of such sale, disposal or discard, as the case may be.

The useful lives, residual values and method of depreciation are reviewed at least at each financial year-end. Where there is a change in the estimated useful life or residual value of an asset, the same is accounted for prospectively as a change in accounting estimate, in accordance with the applicable Accounting Standards.

Freehold land is not depreciated. Property, Plant and Equipment under construction or development, including assets not yet ready for their intended use, are classified as Capital Work-in-Progress and are not depreciated until the respective assets are ready for their intended use.

VI. Impairment of Assets

In accordance with Accounting Standard (AS) 28 – "Impairment of Assets", the carrying amount of the Company's assets is reviewed at each balance sheet date to determine whether there is any indication of impairment. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset or, where applicable, the cash-generating unit (CGU) to which the asset belongs, is estimated.

The recoverable amount is the higher of the net selling price and the value in use of the asset or CGU. An impairment loss is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss whenever the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount.

After recognition of an impairment loss, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life.

Where, in a subsequent period, there is an indication that an impairment loss recognised in earlier periods may no longer exist or may have decreased, the recoverable amount of the asset or CGU is reassessed. An impairment loss recognised in prior periods is reversed to the extent that the recoverable amount of the asset or CGU increases, subject to the condition that the revised carrying amount of the asset does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation, had no impairment loss been recognised in earlier periods.

A reversal of an impairment loss is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which the reversal is identified.

VII. Borrowing Costs

Borrowing cost Includes interest, amortization of ancillary costs incurred in connection with the arrangement of borrowings to the extent they are regarded as an adjustment to the interest cost.

Borrowing costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of an asset that takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use are capitalized. All other borrowing costs are recognized as expenditure in the period in which they are incurred.

VIII. Investments

Accounting Policy and Treatment

Investments represent assets held by the Company for the purpose of earning income by way of dividends, interest, and rentals, for capital appreciation, or for other benefits to the investing enterprise. Investments are classified into current and long-term categories based on the intention and ability of the Company at the time of acquisition.

Classification of Investments

1. Current Investments:

   Investments that are readily realizable and are intended to be held for not more than twelve months from the date of acquisition or the balance sheet date, whichever is earlier, are classified as current investments. These are typically in the nature of marketable securities such as equity shares, debentures, mutual funds, commercial paper, etc., which are held for the purpose of short-term deployment of surplus funds.

2. Long-term Investments:

   All investments other than current investments are classified as long-term investments. These are generally held with the intention of strategic association, capital appreciation, or earning regular income, and are not meant for sale in the short term.

Measurement and Initial Recognition

All investments are initially recognized at cost, which includes the purchase price and any directly attributable acquisition costs, such as brokerage, fees, stamp duties, and applicable taxes. The following principles apply in case of non-cash consideration:

- Where investments are acquired by way of issue of the Company's own equity shares or other securities, the cost of the investment is determined based on the fair value of the securities issued.
- If investments are acquired in exchange for another asset, the acquisition cost is measured at the fair value of the asset given up or the investment acquired, whichever is more clearly determinable.

Subsequent Measurement

- Current Investments:

  Current investments are carried in the restated consolidated financial statements at the lower of cost and fair value. The comparison of cost and fair value is made individually for each investment. Any reduction in carrying amount and any reversals of such reductions are recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss for the period.

- Long-term Investments:

  Long-term investments are carried at cost. However, a provision for diminution in value is made in the restated consolidated financial statements to recognize a decline, other than temporary, in the value of such investments. The determination of whether a decline is other than temporary involves judgment and is based on a variety of factors, including the duration and extent to which the fair value has been less than cost, the financial health of the investee, industry and sector performance, and operational and funding issues affecting the investee.

Disposal and Gains/Losses on Sale

On disposal or sale of an investment, the difference between the carrying amount of the investment and the net disposal proceeds (i.e., sales consideration less directly attributable selling expenses) is recognized as other income or expense in the Statement of Profit and Loss for the period in which such disposal takes place.

The cost of the investment sold is determined on a First-In-First-Out (FIFO) or Weighted Average Cost basis, depending on the method consistently adopted by the Company.

IX. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized when there is no significant uncertainty as to its measurability or collectability and when it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company. In accordance with the principles laid down under AS-9, revenue is measured at the gross inflow of economic benefits arising from the ordinary activities of the Company and is recognized net of applicable indirect taxes such as Goods and Services Tax (GST).

Revenue from Services – Freight Income

In the case of freight and logistics services, revenue is recognized upon the rendering and completion of services, which is deemed to occur when the consignment or shipment is successfully delivered at the customer's designated destination. The completion of service is evidenced by the receipt of a valid and acknowledged 'Proof of Delivery' (POD) from the consignee or authorized recipient at the destination point.

The Company follows a consistent policy of recognizing revenue only when the following conditions, as prescribed under AS-9, are satisfied:

- The service is completed or substantially completed: Delivery of the goods or consignment marks the substantial completion of the freight service. No revenue is recognized for part-deliveries unless such deliveries represent separately billable milestones or contractual deliverables.
- No significant uncertainty exists regarding the amount of consideration: The freight charges are contractually agreed upon with the customer before service commencement, and the Company ensures that the consideration is fixed or determinable.
- It is reasonably certain that the economic benefits will flow to the Company: Revenue is recognized only when the Company has reasonable assurance of the customer's ability and intention to pay for the services rendered.

In cases where payments are received in advance for freight services that are yet to be rendered (i.e., where delivery has not occurred), such amounts are not recognized as revenue but are instead recorded as Advance from Customers under current liabilities until the conditions for revenue recognition are fulfilled.

The Company does not recognize revenue in cases where significant risks or obligations related to service performance remain outstanding at the reporting date.

Revenue is recorded exclusive of Goods and Services Tax (GST), service tax, or any other indirect taxes, in line with the guidance provided under AS-9.

Capital Market-related Activities – Discontinued:
During the financial year 23-24 and 24-25, the Holding Company was engaged in certain capital market-related activities, including F&O/speculative transactions and other capital market activities. Pursuant to Special Resolution passed at the Extra-Ordinary General Meeting, the Holding Company amended its Memorandum of Association to discontinue and remove references to such capital market-related business activities.

Income or gains arising from F&O/speculative transactions and other capital market-related activities undertaken up to the date of discontinuance are recognised in the financial statements in the period in which the underlying transactions are completed or settled and the amount of income or gain is reliably determinable, based on the nature of the underlying transaction and the applicable Accounting Standards. Such income is not considered revenue from the Company's principal operating activities.

The discontinuance of the capital market-related activities has been assessed with reference to the requirements of Accounting Standard (AS) 24 – "Discontinuing Operations" and the relevant disclosures are made in the financial statements, where applicable.

As at the balance sheet date, the Holding Company and its Subsidiary Company are exclusively engaged in the business of providing transportation and reefer logistics services, and revenue from operations relates solely to such activities.

Other Income

Other income comprises income that is incidental to the principal business activities of the Company and is recognised when there is reasonable certainty as to the ultimate collection of the consideration.

Interest Income:
Interest income is recognised on a time proportion basis, taking into account the amount outstanding and the applicable rate of interest, in accordance with Accounting Standard (AS) 9 – "Revenue Recognition".

Dividend Income:
Dividend income is recognised when the Company's right to receive payment is established, in accordance with AS 9 – "Revenue Recognition".

Profit/(Loss) on Sale or Disposal of Property, Plant and Equipment:
Profit or loss arising on the sale, disposal or discard of Property, Plant and Equipment is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which the asset is disposed of. The gain or loss is determined as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset as at the date of disposal.

Scrap Sale:
Income from sale of scrap, arising from the disposal of scrap generated in the course of the Company's operations, is recognised when the significant risks and rewards associated with the ownership of the scrap are transferred to the buyer and the amount of consideration can be measured reliably. Such income is presented under Other Income.

Other income is presented separately in the Statement of Profit and Loss in accordance with the applicable requirements of Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013 and the relevant Accounting Standards.

X. Retirement and other employee benefits

Employee benefits payable wholly within twelve months of receiving employee services are classified as short-term employee benefits. These benefits include salaries and wages, bonus etc. The undiscounted amount of short-term employee benefits to be paid in exchange for employee services is recognised as an expenses in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which the employee renders the relevant service.

Defined Contribution Plans

A defined contribution plan is a post-employment benefit plan under which the Company's obligation is limited to the amount it contributes to the fund. The following are recognized as defined contribution plans:

- Provident Fund:

  The Company makes monthly contributions to the Employees' Provident Fund in accordance with the provisions of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952. These contributions are made to a government-administered fund or a recognized trust.

  The Company has no obligation other than the contribution payable. The contributions are charged to the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

- Employee State Insurance (ESI):

  Where applicable, contributions are made to the Employee State Insurance Corporation in respect of eligible employees in accordance with the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948. These are recognized as an expense in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which the employee renders the related service. The Company's liability is limited to the extent of the fixed contributions.

Defined Benefit Plan- Gratuity

The Company provides for gratuity in accordance with the provisions of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 and Accounting Standard (AS) 15 – "Employee Benefits".

Gratuity is classified as a defined benefit plan. The liability in respect of gratuity is determined based on an actuarial valuation carried out by an independent actuary at the balance sheet date using the Projected Unit Credit Method.

The present value of the defined benefit obligation is determined by discounting the estimated future cash outflows using the interest rates of Government securities having terms consistent with the estimated term of the obligation.

The Company recognises the net defined benefit liability, being the present value of the defined benefit obligation, in the Balance Sheet, as the gratuity plan is unfunded and the Company does not maintain any separate gratuity fund or plan assets.

The cost of providing gratuity comprises current service cost, interest cost on the defined benefit obligation and actuarial gains and losses. These costs are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which they arise, in accordance with the requirements of AS 15.

Actuarial gains and losses arising from experience adjustments and changes in actuarial assumptions are recognised immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which they arise.
Past service cost, if any, is recognised in accordance with the requirements of AS 15.

Short-term employee benefits are recognised as an expense at the undiscounted amount expected to be paid in respect of services rendered by employees during the accounting period.

XI. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand and demand deposits, together with other short-term, highly liquid investments maturing in less than one year from the date of acquisition. Cash and cash equivalents are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. This also includes amounts related to cheques that have been issued but not yet presented at the bank, which reduces the balance in the Company's records. Other Bank Balances are short-term balance (with original maturity is more than three months but less than twelve months).

XII. Trade and other payables

These amounts represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Company prior to the end of financial year which are unpaid. The amounts are unsecured. Trade and other payables are presented as current liabilities unless payment is not due within 12 months after the reporting period. They are recognised initially at their fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost using effective interest method.

XIII. Income taxes

Tax expense for the period comprises of current tax, deferred tax and Minimum alternate tax credit

Provision for current tax made on the basis of estimated taxable income for the current accounting year in accordance with the Income-tax Act, 1961.

Current tax assets and current tax liabilities are offset when there a legally enforceable right to set off the recognised amounts, and there is an intention to settle the asset and the liability on a net basis.

Adjustments to income taxes related to prior periods arise from changes in estimates or resolutions of tax positions taken in earlier years. These adjustments are recognized in the period in which they are identified, in accordance with the relevant accounting standards. The impact of such adjustments is included in the tax expense of the period unless they relate to items previously recognized outside profit or loss adjustments to income tax relating to prior periods are recognized in the period in which the error or change is identified. These adjustments may arise from reassessments by tax authorities, changes in management’s judgment regarding tax positions, or corrections of errors in previous period tax calculations.

The deferred tax for timing differences between the book and tax profits for the year is accounted for, using the tax rates and laws that have been substantively enacted as of the reporting date.

Deferred tax charge or credit reflects the tax effects of timing differences between accounting income and taxable income for the period. The deferred tax charge or credit and the corresponding deferred tax liabilities or assets are recognised using the tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent there is reasonable certainty that the assets can be realised in future; however, where there is unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward of losses, deferred tax assets are recognised only if there is a virtual certainty of realisation of such assets. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date and are written-down or written up to reflect the amount that reasonably/ virtually certain (as the case may be) to be realised.

At each reporting date, the Company reassesses the unrecognized deferred tax assets, if any.

XIV. Contingent Liability, Provisions and Contingent Asset

Company follows Accounting Standard (AS) 29 – "Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets" in respect of recognition, measurement and disclosure of provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets.

The Company recognises a provision when there is a present obligation as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.
Provisions are measured at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the balance sheet date. Where the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are measured at the present value of the expenditure expected to be required to settle the obligation, using a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the obligation.

The Company recognises provisions for decommissioning, restoration and similar obligations, where applicable, at the present value of the expected costs to settle such obligations. Such costs are recognised as part of the cost of the related Property, Plant and Equipment to the extent that the criteria for recognition are met. The unwinding of the discount is recognised as a finance cost in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which it arises.

In accordance with AS 29, a contingent liability is not recognised in the financial statements but is disclosed, unless the possibility of an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits is remote. A contingent liability may arise in the following circumstances:

- a possible obligation that arises from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Company; or
- a present obligation that arises from past events but is not recognised because it is not probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, or the amount of the obligation cannot be measured with sufficient reliability.

A contingent asset, in accordance with AS 29, is not recognised in the financial statements, since this may result in the recognition of income that may never be realised. However, where an inflow of economic benefits is probable, the contingent asset is disclosed in the financial statements. Contingent assets are assessed continually to ensure that developments are appropriately reflected in the financial statements.

Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date and are adjusted, recognised or disclosed, as appropriate, to reflect the current best estimate and the circumstances existing at the reporting date.

XV. Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. The weighted average numbers of equity shares are adjusted for events such as bonus issue, bonus element in the rights issue, share split and reverse share split (consolidation of shares) that have changed the number of equity shares outstanding, without corresponding change in resources.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

XVI. Segment Reporting

The accounting policies adopted for segment reporting are in conformity with the accounting policies adopted by the Company for preparation and presentation of its financial statements.

The Company identifies operating segments based on the nature of the products and services provided and the internal reporting structure, in accordance with the principles of Accounting Standard (AS) 17 – "Segment Reporting". Revenue and expenses have been identified to segments on the basis of their relationship to the operating activities of the respective segment. Revenue and expenses which relate to the Company as a whole and are not allocable to segments on a reasonable basis are considered as unallocable items.

The Company is primarily engaged in the business of transportation and logistics services and does not have any other separately identifiable business segment. Accordingly, the entire business activity of the Company constitutes one reportable business segment, being Transportation and Logistics Services.

The Company does not have separately identifiable geographical segments requiring separate disclosure under AS 17. Accordingly, segment-wise disclosure of revenue, results, assets and liabilities is not applicable to the Company, as the Company operates as a single reportable segment. The Company therefore does not have any reportable segment other than its Transportation and Logistics Services segment.

XVII. Corporate Social Responsibility

In accordance with the provisions of Section 135 of the Companies Act, 2013 and the Companies (Corporate Social Responsibility Policy) Rules, 2014, as amended from time to time, the Company is required to spend a specified amount towards Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) activities as prescribed under the Act.

The Company discharges its CSR obligation by making contributions to eligible projects or initiatives that are aligned with the activities specified under Schedule VII to the Companies Act, 2013, such as promoting education, healthcare, rural development, environmental sustainability, and other socially beneficial programs.

The amounts incurred towards CSR activities are recognized as an expense in the Restated Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which such contributions are made or when the liability to make the contribution is incurred, whichever is earlier.

The Company does not capitalize any CSR expenditure, nor does it recognize any asset arising from such expenditure, as the same does not generate economic benefits to the Company and is incurred in compliance with a statutory obligation for the benefit of the society at large.

Any unspent CSR amount, if applicable, is dealt with in accordance with the requirements of the Act, including transfer to a specified fund or earmarked account, as the case may be.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITIONS AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

You should read the following discussion of our financial condition and results of operations together with our restated financial statements included in this Red Herring Prospectus. You should also read the section titled "Risk Factors" beginning on page 24, which discusses several factors, risks and contingencies that could affect our financial condition and results of operations. The following discussion relates to our Company and is based on our restated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with Indian GAAP, the Companies Act and the SEBI Regulations. Portions of the following discussion are also based on internally prepared statistical information and on other sources. Our fiscal year ends on March 31 of each year, so all references to a particular fiscal year ("Fiscal Year") are to the twelve-month period ended March 31 of that year.

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Indian GAAP, the Companies Act and the SEBI (ICDR) Regulations and restated as described in the report of our auditors dated July 30, 2026 which is included in this Red Herring Prospectus under the chapter titled "Restated Financial Statements" beginning on page 206. The restated financial statements have been prepared on a basis that differs in certain material respects from generally accepted accounting principles in other jurisdictions, including US GAAP and IFRS. We do not provide a reconciliation of our restated financial statements to US GAAP or IFRS and we have not otherwise quantified or identified the impact of the differences between Indian GAAP and U.S. GAAP or IFRS as applied to our restated financial statements.

This discussion contains forward-looking statements and reflects our current views with respect to future events and financial performance. Actual results may differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements as a result of certain factors such as those described under "Risk Factors" and "Forward Looking Statements" beginning on page 24 and 23 respectively, and elsewhere in this Red Herring Prospectus Accordingly, the degree to which the financial statements in this Red Herring Prospectus will provide meaningful information depend entirely on such potential investor's level of familiarity with Indian accounting practices. Please also refer to the chapter titled "Presentation of Financial, Industry and Market data" beginning on page 21.

BUSINESS OVERVIEW

Our Company was originally incorporated as "Pooja Logistics Private Limited" as a Private Limited Company under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 vide Certificate of Incorporation dated December 09, 2011, issued by the Registrar of Companies, NCT of Delhi and Haryana. Further, pursuant to a special resolution passed by our Shareholders in the Extra-Ordinary General Meeting held on August 05, 2024, our Company was converted from a private limited company to a public limited company and consequently, the name of our Company was changed to "Pooja Logistics Limited" and a fresh certificate of incorporation dated November 18, 2024 was issued to our Company by the Registrar of Companies, Central Processing Centre, Manesar. The Corporate Identification Number of our Company is U60300DL2011PLC228491.

We are engaged in providing temperature-controlled logistics services for the transportation of perishable goods across India through refrigerated trucks ("reefers"). Since incorporation in 2011, we have been offering cold chain logistics services to a range of industries. Our in-house fleet as on March 31, 2026 comprises over 424 GPS-enabled vehicles dedicated to the transportation of temperature-sensitive goods. We cater to clients operating in the confectionery, dairy and dairy products, quick-service restaurants (QSRs), pharmaceuticals, and e-commerce sectors. We transport temperature-sensitive consignments while maintaining operational systems designed to maintain compliance with applicable standards.

Our fleet consists of trucks with different sizes and capacities, enabling us to undertake a range of assignments. We generally operate on a trip-to-trip model, based on customer requirements. The detailed specifications and categorization of our vehicles are provided under the head "Our Competitive Strengths" on page 126.

We have implemented various technology-enabled operational processes, including: (i) a process for scheduling orders, where goods are picked up from the client's origin warehouse, transported under monitored temperatures, and delivered at the destination with verification; (ii) GPS-tracking software "Geo Trackers" to provide visibility of vehicle movement and shipment status; (iii) vehicle movement reports for monitoring and managing temperature levels in reefers; and (iv) driver and truck management systems. These systems support real-time temperature tracking, route optimization, and monitoring of vehicle operations. Our temperature-controlled logistics services are aimed at the transportation of perishable products under controlled conditions using reefer vehicles. Upon reaching the delivery location, goods are unloaded as per defined protocols.
